The happiness of the leader lies in the happiness of his people, his welfare in their welfare. He will only consider those things desirable which are liked by his people and not which he likes individually.

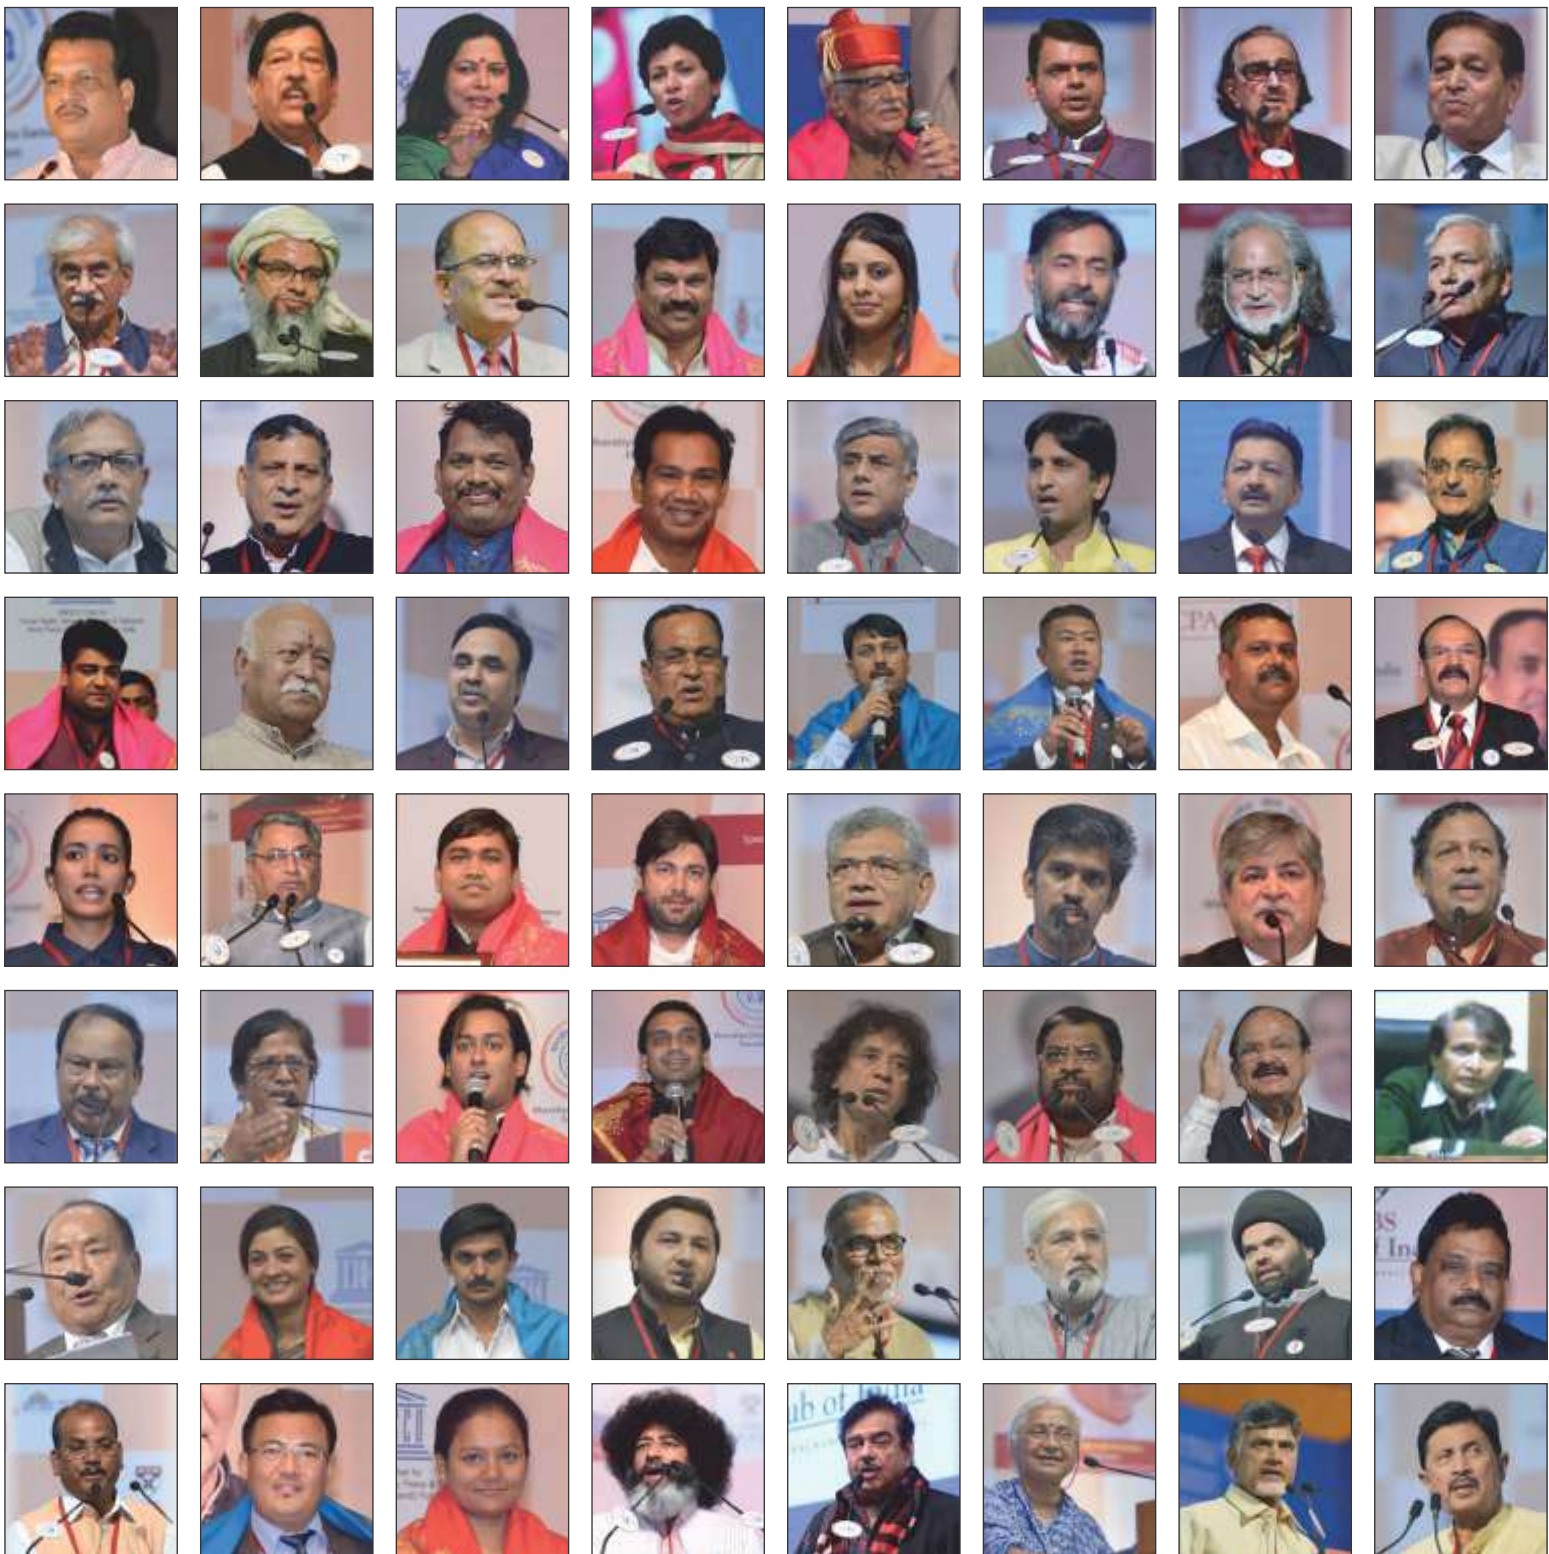

- Arya Chanakya

I think that educated youth with clean moral and ethical characters should take it as a challenge to enter politics and raise its standards so that it will not bear a tarnished image. This is for the betterment of the democracy not just in our country but the world over as well. I urge the policy makers in the government to introduce may be a week-long Democracy Leadership and Governance Awareness Program (DLGAP) at the undergraduate level to sensitize the youth on matters of politics and governance.

- Rahul V. Karad

ESTEEMED SPEAKERS OF 6th BHARATIYA CHHATRA SANSAD 2016

Indian Student Parliament (Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad) is a platform created for the student union leaders and also other politically active student leaders of India to encourage them to voice their opinions and provide them with an opportunity to listen to the experts on various issues facing the nation, so that they can unite together to assume public leadership responsibilities to strengthen the democratic fabric of the nation. This mission is supported by Legislative Assemblies, Parliament Affairs Ministries and Youth Ministries of various State Governments.

Disclaimer: Indian Student Parliament (Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad) is an independent, non-political platform which is not in any way affiliated to any national or regional political party or media house in India or overseas.

Photos of speakers are arranged in chronological order (Session wise)

IMPORTANT NOTE

Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad is an apolitical platform on which student leaders from all ideologies - political, religious, sectarian or otherwise - assemble to voice their opinions. The effort is to sensitize the youth about the ideals of democracy by exposing them to all views and opinions. The objective is also to sensitize them towards political processes with a view to bringing them into the political mainstream. The Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad also aims to provide a feedback to the government in order to help it formulate policies for the youth and other sectors, by ascertaining the pulse of the people through the medium of youth.

Thus, Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad is the perfect reflection of democracy in full function, irrespective of political, religious, sectarian or any other ideologies.

Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad (Indian Student Parliament) established in 2011, is an extension of MAEER's MIT School of Government, Pune, which has brought out classroom training to a larger canvas by transforming the outlook of thousands of youth and reaffirming their respect for politics, political leaders, democracy and its institutions.

MISSION

To ignite the very spirit of student politics in the youth of today and inculcate public spirited and socially sensitive values right during their formative years. We aim to raise the extent of sensitivity, awareness, involvement, responsiveness, access and say of youth in political and democratic processes so that a healthy democratic system is evolved to produce competent public leaders and policy makers, from the grassroots and from all walks of life.

The photograph shown above is of World Peace Centre building at MIT campus, Pune where MIT School of Government, the first school for professional education in politics & government is established in India.

Indian politicians cutting across the party lines have unconditionally supported the idea of MAEER’s MIT School of Government and the concept and relevance of Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad. They have sensed that when such large numbers of active youth come to an agreement for a common purpose, the possibilities are endless.

VISION

To create most ethical, spirited and competent public leadership in the country, which will shape our policies, make our democracy vibrant and bridge the chasm between the way we are being governed today and the way we actually want to be governed.

The photograph shown above is of participants of MPG-03 of MIT School of Government at Rashtrapati Bhavan during their National Study Tour. The study tour is organized each year as a part of the academic curriculum for MIT-SOG participants to Delhi, India.

She is the iconic figure of Myanmar's historic fight for democracy against the military junta that ruled the country for many years. She had addressed the Indian Students Parliament on video conferencing during its third edition. She is also the icon for those who have faith in restoration of democracy throughout the world. She is confident that she will be able to participate in person in one of the ensuing editions of BCS.

IN QUEST OF DEMOCRACY...

“Parliament is about discussion and debate. Through discussion and debate conflicts can be resolved without violence”

Aung San Suu Kyi

Nobel Peace Laureate
Chairperson & General Secretary,
National League for Democracy, Myanmar

(Participated in Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad through video address)

In modern times, there have been some legendary individuals who have fought relentlessly for restoring human rights and democracy in their countries. Aung San Suu Kyi is one such modern legend. For over two decades, Ms Suu Kyi underwent numerous hardships including imprisonment, house detention, trials and untold agony in her quest for restoring democracy in military-ruled Myanmar. Daughter of Aung San, considered to be the architect of modern day Burma, Ms Suu Kyi has been leading the prodemocracy movement in Myanmar since 1988. In honour of her dedicated and devoted quest for peace and democracy, she was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1991. She has also been conferred with the Sakharov Prize for Freedom of Thought in 1990 and Jawarharlal Nehru Award for International Understanding in 1992, among other international recognitions.

The organizers of Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad invited Ms Aung San Suu Kyi to address the student leaders of India on the occasion of the 3rd Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad. As Ms Suu Kyi had already visited India recently in the year 2012, she expressed her inability to be present personally. However, she very graciously recorded her message to the young leaders on video, which was shown to the gathering of 3rd Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad on 10th January 2013. Given below is an extract of her message.

“Parliament is about discussion and debate. Through discussion and debate conflicts can be resolved without violence. Some violence seems to have taken place in some parliaments but one would say these are aberrations rather than staunch conflicts. These can arise from singularity as well as from differences. For example, there is a various cover of students, those who have to say ideas are enemies. That's just to say conflict arises out of rivalry, material and emotions. This competition for resources leads to conflict and causes this perception that there isn't enough in this world for everybody. That is what we have to start trying to change.

Peace and security are intimately connected. Unless one is secure, one cannot seek peace. One does not understand the need of peace unless there is an inner security. So what we have to try to do is to build up a world where all of us can feel secure.

Please use this opportunity for discussion and debate to find out how you can make enduring values lost and how you find more values that will give hope to all of us who are living in the world that aims out to reach out to us from day to day.”

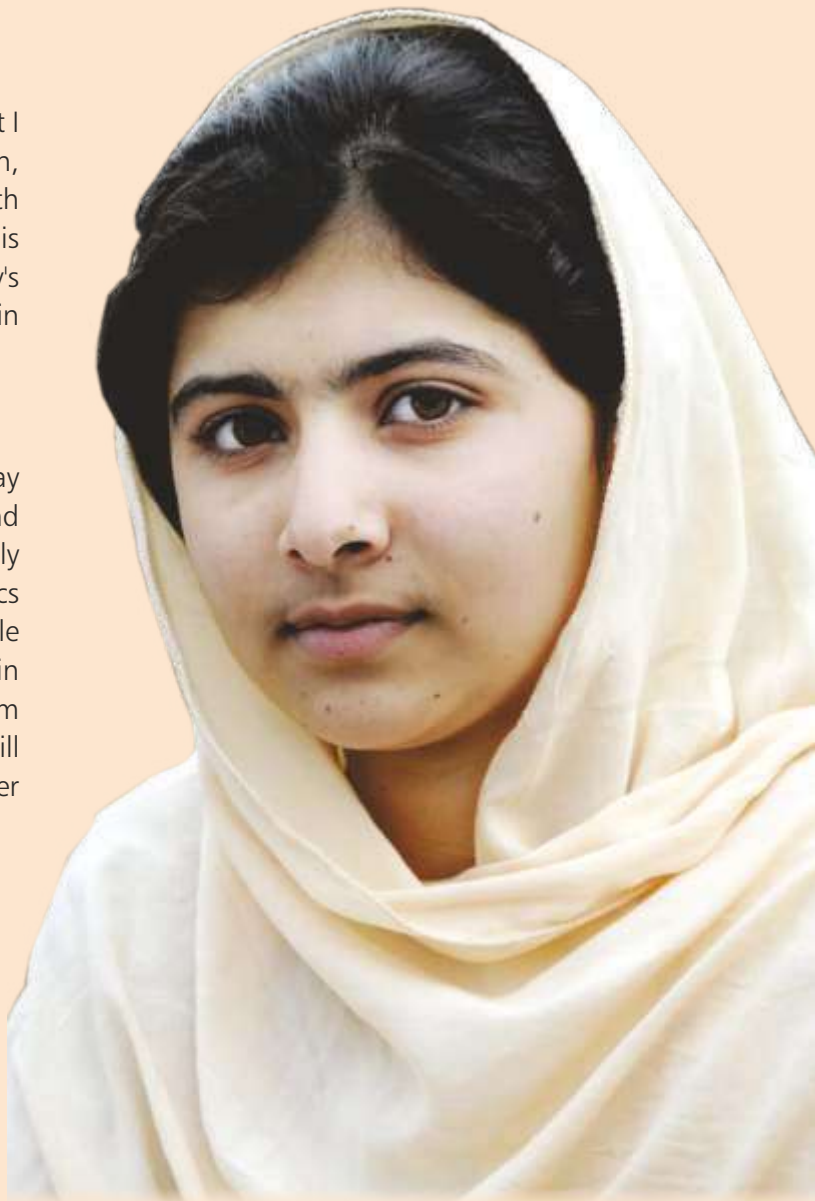

Malala Yousufzai is the new icon of the young world, particularly for the girls. She has relentlessly promoted the cause of women's education even while living in a very hostile environment and after having almost lost her life for the cause. She was invited to address the participants of the 4th Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad in person, but could not make it due to her school schedule. She recorded a small speech addressed to the participants, which was shown during the inaugural session of the 4th Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad. The overwhelming curiosity of her participation was such that over 22,000 students across India watched the webcast of her recorded address, apart from the 7000+ participants of the 4th BCS.

BHARATIYA CHHATRA SANSAD CONGRATULATES MALALA YOUSAFZAI FOR WINNING THE NOBEL PEACE PRIZE 2014 AND EXTENDS BEST WISHES FOR ALL HER FUTURE ENDEAVOURS.

Thank you so much for inviting me, I am really sorry that I am not there, but it's a great opportunity to talk to Youth, the new generation. It is very important that the youth takes part in politics because the youth is the one who is going to be the future of tomorrow and for the country's prosperity and development, so it is necessary to be in politics.

I want to be in politics because I think it is the better way to work for education, work for the women's rights and for the development of my country. I truly and truly support all of you that join politics and work in politics because you are working for your country, for the people living in your country and your role is also important but in equality, with total participation of women and men. I am hopeful that through your continuous struggle, you will soon achieve your goals and when we all work together with unity then soon we can see the change.

Thank you so much.

“I want to be in politics because I think it is the better way to work for education, work for the women's rights and for the development of my country.”

METHODOLOGY ADOPTED FOR BHARATIYA CHHATRA SANSAD

1. Conduct of Session:

Academic Sessions are based on various themes which reflect the important issues facing India/World currently. The sessions are initiated by the Vice Chancellors. Four student leaders express their views on the given topic before any other speaker so that they are not influenced, pressurized or burdened by the views of the other speakers. The Speakers of state assemblies speak next for 10 minutes. Adarsh Yuva Vidhayak Puraskar (Ideal Young MLA Awards) are given away to two young MLAs. This is followed by speeches by Eminent Speakers who speak for 20 minutes each, followed by Q & A session. The Resolutions are put to voting towards the end of the session. This is the general methodology followed for all 8 sessions, while allowing for last minute alterations as per the demands of the situation.

2. Vice Chancellors:

The Vice Chancellors are amongst the most esteemed constituents of Bharatiya Chhatra/Yuva Sansad. They have the honour of putting forth their views at the beginning of each session and set the tone of discussion. The effort is to provide an opportunity to each and every Vice Chancellor of each university across India to put forth his/her views. A selection panel shortlists VCs of those universities which have not been represented in the earlier editions of the Bharatiya Chhatra/Yuva Sansad and invites them to participate.

3. Student Speakers:

A fair selection methodology is adopted while selecting the students who speak as representatives of the students during each session. A selection panel is formed comprising of faculty and other experts, who review the VCDs/DVDs received from those registered students who wish to speak on the given topic. The criteria adopted for selection is relevance of topic, content of speech, body language, confidence level etc. Based on this, the shortlisted students have to perform before the selection panel before the start of the Conclave. 4 students who excel in the above mentioned criteria are finally selected to speak during each session.

4. Adarsh Yuva Vidhayak Puraskar (Ideal Young MLA Award):

The practice of awarding the Adarsh Yuva Vidhayak Puraskar was started during the 3rd Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad. In each session, one or two young MLAs are felicitated for following sound democratic and parliamentary practices in their constituency.

5. Assembly Speakers:

The Speakers of all Legislative assemblies of India are intimated about the conduct of the Conclave well in advance. Invitations are sent to selected Speakers to be the Chairpersons of the sessions. Usually, the Speakers of assemblies not represented in the earlier editions of BCS are invited to occupy the Chair.

6. Main Speakers/Eminent Speakers:

Very eminent personalities from various fields like Politics, Media, Entertainment, Judiciary, Corporate, Bureaucracy etc are invited as Main Speakers or Keynote Speakers for each session. At times, more than one Main Speaker is invited depending upon the subject of discussion and the availability of the eminent personality.

7. Felicitation:

Felicitation of guests is a deep-rooted Indian tradition. At BCS, we have imbibed this tradition as a mark of respect to every contribution of every individual. The eminent speakers and other dignitaries along with student speakers are felicitated with a shawl and a memento.

8. Q&A Session:

Participating Students send in their questions on a printed format to the volunteers allotted for each seating block. The volunteer collects these questions and sends them to the selection committee present near the dais. The committee examines the relevance of the questions and selects an optimum number of questions depending upon the time available, but usually not less than 4. As the Q&A session starts, each selected student's name is announced who then goes to a podium kept beside each block and asks the question to the eminent speaker of the session.

9. Vijigishu Chhatra Sangh Netrutva Puraskar (Wining Student Wing Leadership Award):

This Award is presented to the leaders of the youth wings of various political parties at the national and regional levels, who have made a mark on national students' politics as well as on student council leaders of various universities. This award is not necessarily given every year.

10. Lifetime Achievement Award:

Lifetime Achievement Award is conferred on an eminent personality belonging to diverse fields like politics, media, literature, art and culture etc. whose lifelong work has contributed significantly to promoting democratic values in the society and the country in general. It is conferred during the Inaugural Session.

11. Gargi and Maitreyee Puraskar:

Gargi and Maitreyee Awards are given to two outstanding women parliamentarians each year during Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad. These are named after two ancient Indian women scholars, whose wisdom and knowledge was comparable with some of the finest male sages and scholars of that time. The research team gathers information on all the women parliamentarians and then selects the two MPs after careful consideration of their achievements and the kind of work carried out by them in their constituencies. For promotions of Parliamentary practices & women empowerment.

12. Adarsh Yuva Adhyatmik Guru Puraskar:

In India, it is a heartening factor that there are many spiritual leaders belonging to the younger generation also. This is a clear indicator that the Indian youth is not devoid of spirituality. These young spiritual leaders or Yuva Adhyatmik Gurus, who have made a mark on the society by bringing in positivity are considered eligible for this Award, which also encourages them to carry on with this task as a mission.

13. Best Student Speaker Award:

Five students from among all the student speakers who have performed outstandingly during the sessions are selected for this award. The selection is done by an ad hoc panel consisting of office-bearers of Bharatiya Chhatra/Yuva Sansad Foundation convened for this period.

14. Uccha Shikshit Aadarsh Yuva Sarpanch Puraskar (Highly Educated Ideal Youth Sarpanch Award):

This award is given to a highly educated young sarpanch of a village, who despite the higher education prefers to serve his/her village.

15. Bell of Democracy:

This is a bell made of brass mounted on a steel stand. The ringing of this bell symbolically reaffirms our faith in the continuance and strengthening of democracy in the country. It is rung during the Inaugural and Valedictory Sessions by the dignitaries on the dais.

16. Ekta Sutra:

Ekta Sutra is the Bond of Unity, which signifies the coming together of all the student and youth leaders of India in a show of solidarity and oneness for nation building. All the participants and personalities on the dais tie short pieces of string together to form a long, unbroken chain of unity, reaffirming their faith in the unity and integrity of India. This ceremony takes place at the end of the Valedictory Session, signifying the end of the 3-day conclave.

17. Release of Balloons:

Tri-coloured balloons are released in the sky at the hands of the invited dignitaries before the Inaugural Session commences. This act symbolically signifies to the entire country that an important event is about to take place for the strengthening of democracy in India.

18. Oath:

An oath is administered to the participants, in which they reaffirm their faith in the unity of India and pledge to work diligently to strengthen the democracy of the country. It is usually (but not necessarily) administered by a spiritual leader who is invited as an Eminent Speaker for one of the academic sessions.

19. Resolutions:

At the end of each session, a relevant resolution on the topic discussed is proposed, which is sent to the various decision-making authorities if passed by a majority by the participants. The voting options are 'Yes' and 'No'. It is displayed on the screen in the auditorium and the participants vote via SMS.

MESSAGE

I am pleased to know that the Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad Foundation and the MAEER's MIT School of Government is organizing the 5th edition of the Indian Students' Parliament (Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad) in Pune during January 10-12, 2014.

It is estimated that by 2020, India will become the world's youngest country with 64 per cent of its population in the working age group. In order to benefit from this demographic dividend, the government is striving to transition from Youth Development to Youth – led development. It is therefore imperative that youths take greater interest in the functioning of democracy and in the affairs of governance. During the last five years, the Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad has emerged as an important platform for youth leaders to deliberate on challenges before the nation and to discuss ideas to increase the participation of youths in the process of nation building.

I congratulate the organizers and convey my best wishes for the success of the event. I also extend my New Year greetings to the participants and wish them fruitful deliberations.

Message

I congratulate the Indian Students' Parliament (Bhartiya Chatra Sansad) Foundation, Pune for taking an innovative step of providing a platform to promote participation of youth in politics and groom them to accept the challenges of leadership.

Today, when we look at the meaning of democracy, we mean non-discrimination, and inclusion of all cutting across caste and creed, that leads to empowerment of the common masses. This students' parliament is indeed a praiseworthy decision as there is a greater need to have strong and dynamic movements in our country. This would go a long way in nurturing respect and trust in democracy and develop the synergy in building democracy in India.

I positively look forward to this youth movement and hope that there would a wholehearted participation of the student leaders who should strive hard to foster a sense of solidarity, bonding and arduously work towards preservation of values that are integral to our democracy.

सत्यमेव जयते

I compliment you for initiating Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad, which is visibly, committed to preparing the youth for future leadership of Indian democracy. I am impressed with the magnitude and impact this has made on the young minds since its inception in 2011. It is quite satisfying to learn that Ministry of Higher & Technical Education, Government of Maharashtra has been associated with this academic activity in all these years.

I have received your proposal seeking my association with Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad Foundation as its 'Patron'. You have also requested the State Government to continue its association with this noble activity in the coming years.

Evidently, the objective and efforts of the platform are aimed for the welfare of youth. The Government of Maharashtra itself is quite sensitive to the challenges faced by the large populace of youth and is very much concerned to devise innovative and effective methodologies intended to their all-round development, so that their creative energy is utilized for nation building.

Considering a shared vision and purpose we have, I accept these proposals and hereby conveying my consent to the same. I am also pleased to accept your invitation to address the Inaugural Session of fifth annual national conclave of Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad on January 10, 2015 at Pune.

Thanking you,

Best wishes,

(Vinod Tawde)

MESSAGE

PRESIDENT

We are proudly witnessing the great strides made by the Indian youth in several spheres of activities. But the youth has been shying away from socio-political responsibilities today. The challenge is to get the youth involved in building the future India, which is their India, which will script their own future.

In this context, I consider the success of the 1st Indian Student Parliament (Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad) as an important milestone in today's socio-political environment of India. Indeed, the MAEER's MIT School of Government has done remarkably well by drawing an overwhelming response from the student community by holding the first ever Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad in Pune. The event drew a wide appreciation from the Indian youth. Further, this brought the youth, the decision makers, eminent members of the civil society, corporate leaders and senior political leaders on one common platform.

I would like to applaud the bold, dynamic and visionary leadership of Rahul Karad. From concept to execution, he led from the front. I must also appreciate the commitment of Government of Maharashtra, as shown by its genuine support of the idea as well as the event.

I am confident that if we mobilize the student leaders all over the country, instill confidence in them, create a social awakening, then India will be on the move to occupy a top seat at the table in the Comity of Nations as the 21st century unfolds.

I extend my heartiest greetings for the successful conduct of the 6th Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad.

R. A. Mashelkar

Eminent Scientist, National Research Professor,
Chairman, Governing Council, MIT School of Government, Pune

EXECUTIVE PRESIDENT

In spite of having a covetous force of youth population in India, the pace of the progress is not gaining the desired motion. The nation is waiting for leaders of iron will, who can undertake the Himalayan task of nation building. Instead of waiting for others, it becomes our Rashtra Dharma to come forward and shoulder the responsibility.

According to the Great Noble Son of India Swami Vivekananda, "Union of Science and Religion/Spirituality alone will bring peace to the mankind". When we founded the World Peace Centre, MAEER's MIT, Pune in 1996, we took a step towards trying to bring together science and spirituality with the intention of establishing a 'Culture of Peace in the World'. When more and more knowledgeable and motivated youth take active interest in nation building, India will be in a position to lead the world in all areas.

The resounding success of the Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad has generated hope for India's future. The MIT Group of Institutions, Pune, India is proud to have hosted this August gathering and would like to extend its whole-hearted support for this noble cause through UNESCO Chair in the coming years as well. I am confident that the energy and enthusiasm witnessed will be converted into a positive action on the part of our youth.

MESSAGE

CHAIRMAN

Today, India is on the threshold of being a developed economy. Its strength lies in its young population, which is certainly enviable for other countries. This is the right opportunity to guide and motivate these youngsters to utilize their sparkling energy for the noble cause of nation building. The best way to develop and nurture this abundant talent of our nation is to concentrate our efforts on the student leaders who would be shouldering the responsibilities of making a stronger India. To approach all the youth in our country might be tedious but bringing all the youth leaders on a common platform for deliberations and dialogue is possible.

The 1st Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad (Indian Student Parliament), has sown the seeds of motivation, action and commitment of youth towards positive action. The importance of this Parliament lies in the fact that we lack the leaders with vision and leaders who are capable of taking bold decisions. Several times, leaders dither when it comes to decide, either because of their ignorance of the issues or because of their myopic vision. This problem could be rectified by enabling the present student leaders for rightful electoral politics as the present electoral politics is the root cause of several evils in public life. The corrupt electoral politics will never produce ethical leaders committed to clean and healthy politics. The Chhatra Sansad can pave the way for this innovative undertaking and create leaders with oozing energy and dynamism. I wish that Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad will generate new ripples of enthusiasm and enlightenment in the nation.

T. N. Seshan
Former Chief Election Commissioner of India

EXECUTIVE CHAIRMAN

During our freedom struggle the idea of 'Nai Talim' was contemplated by Mahatma Gandhi and his close associates. The purpose was to integrate academic learning with external environment. At a higher level, the scheme stimulated students' awareness about the surrounding issues and empathy about it and initiated their preparation for social commitment.

The concept could not gain enough ground, but its relevance remains everlasting. And especially in today's times, when educational system has become so career-oriented, compartmentalizing the society and rendering individuals as isolated units in themselves. Instead of bringing people together it has created walls and distances among them.

Consequently, there is apathy among the students about the serious issues in the society and lack of concern for the marginalized population. This self-centric education can't create leaders and activists.

This state of affairs needs major churning. Fortunately, the initiative by MIT School of Government to organize the Indian Student Parliament deserves appreciation. It will help percolating the social bonds and commitment and inspire students for action. Its motto 'Inspiring Youth For Strengthening Democracy' is greatly symbolic in the sense that time has come for the action of youth. I extend all my wishes for its success.

Tushar Gandhi
President
Mahatma Gandhi Foundation

Ban Ki-moon

Secretary-General, United Nations Organization

“You are part of the largest generation of young people our world has ever known. We must work together to help young people make the most of their energies, ideas and leadership potential.”

I am pleased to send my greetings to all the young people gathered for the Third Indian Student Parliament.

You gather at a time of profound turmoil, transition and transformation. Insecurity, inequality and intolerance are spreading around the world. Governments are wasting vast and precious funds on deadly weapons while reducing investments in people. Too many people in power seem wilfully blind to the threat of climate change.

There have been significant steps forward. Extreme poverty has been cut in half since the year 2000.

Democratic transitions are under way in the Arab world, Myanmar and elsewhere. Africa's economic growth has become the fastest in the world. Latin America and Asia continue to make important advances.

India is at a pivot point in its own history. In many ways, it faces the classic dilemma of a middle-income nation. On the one hand, we see India as the rising global power. On the other hand, India faces many of the challenges of a developing nation. For both these Indias, great opportunity awaits.

You are part of the largest generation of young people our world has ever known. Yet opportunities for youth are falling short. Youth unemployment rates are at record levels. Many are stuck in low-wage, dead-end work, despite having college degrees. We must work together to help young people make the most of their energies, ideas and leadership potential.

This is an era of great uncertainty, but also one of profound opportunity. No single leader, country or institution can do everything. But each of us, in our own way, can do something. Together, as partners, we can meet today's tests and seize the opportunities of an era of dramatic change.

Please accept my best wishes for a rewarding gathering.

Irina Bokova
Director - General, UNESCO, Paris

“ Let me commend this initiative of the MIT School of Government, Pune, India. Everywhere I travel I am inspired by the energy and the commitment to change that comes from young people.”

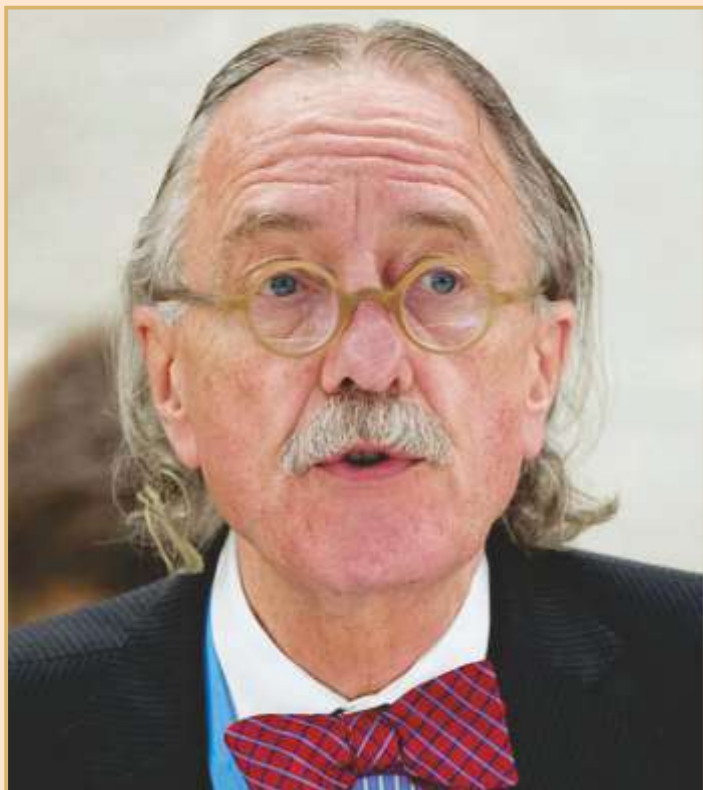

Let me commend this initiative of the MIT School of Government, Pune, India. Everywhere I travel I am inspired by the energy and the commitment to change that comes from young people. Young people are one billion strong in the world. They carry a billion hopes for a better world. The year 2011 will be remembered as the year the young people decided to take the torch of human dignity and speak up for human rights. It resulted in an unprecedented movement for democracy, justice and peace. Young people must be considered as actors for change and not simply as beneficiaries. They are already changing the world; they are enriching the culture and media. It is the role of UNESCO to give them the skills and tools to do so in ways that strengthen the ties between cultures that protect human rights and fundamental freedoms. Quality education is the starting point.

If we combine the hopes of youth with quality education, there is nothing we cannot achieve. This is where UNESCO will continue to fight, to provide each and every girl and boy with everything they need to share their ideas and act on them. Last October the UNESCO Youth Forum gave young people from all the member states a platform to share experiences, and to forge new ideas together. Today this second Indian Students Parliament is another unique opportunity for you to debate ideas in a democratic spirit, to envision ways to make the world a better place. Be imaginative, generous and ambitious. As your great Mahatma Gandhi put it be the change you want to see in the world. You are not only the leaders of tomorrow, you are the leading actors of today.

I wish you every success in your discussions.

Anders B. Johnsson

Then Secretary General,
Union of Parliaments of 163 Nations
Geneva, Switzerland

I am very humbled as I sit here and I see you through my screen. I am very honored and pleased to have this opportunity to talk to India’s upcoming leaders who are gathered here in MIT campus in Pune for the 3rd Indian Student Parliament. I was curious to see in your program you are discussing and encouraging young people like yourself to be a part of the political processes. I do think that it is extremely important that you do take part and that you take your own responsibility in politics. I have said that in our organization we deal with the issues of the society, this is very important issue for society and we welcome it.

I have a great feel of admiration for what you all are trying to do.

Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad (Indian Student Parliament) – A Seed Thought

“The time is ripe for the educated youth to come forward to shoulder the responsibility of leadership in public life. Unfortunately, majority of them still shy away from politics. We have to change the picture.”

Rahul V. Karad

Founder Convenor,
Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad (Indian Student Parliament)

With a strong interest to pioneer a change in the political & social arena with a defined objective, and to inspire the next generation to embark on a path of taking on the mantle of Indian Political Leadership, the MIT School of Government (MIT-SOG) Pune, was launched in the year 2005, at a time when politics was considered a not so good career. We strongly believe that the educated youth with professional training could make an impact at the societal level by joining politics.

It is the first institute in India and Asia of its kind, imparting One Year, Full Time, Masters Program in Government (MPG), a professional program for developing democratic leadership and a career in Politics and Government. The School is providing the youth not just with a formal training centre where they get rudimentary knowledge about the political process but where they learn to uphold the virtues of transparent and accountable governance essential to strengthen democratic institutions, get understanding of pluralistic society and learn about international diplomacy, politics, trade and economy, as well as respect for human rights. Now with the involvement of youth in public movements and with comparatively greater participation of youth in electoral processes in recent years, our belief that young and educated people should join politics has been vindicated.

We expanded the canvas of the School in 2011 and brought out classroom training to the thousands of common youth through Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad

(BCS). In the last 6 years, the platform has captured the imagination and conscience of thousands of spirited youth and has joined them together for a singular purpose to strengthen the foundations of Indian democracy. Every year 10 to 12,000 politically and socially active students from about 450 universities across 29 states of India, participate in the flagship annual national conclave of Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad after a rigorous selection process adopted by the colleges independently.

The platform has established its credibility not only in India but across the globe with support and encouragement flowing from all over the world. Many important democratic organizations of global governance have termed BCS as an exceptional model for the entire world, But this is just the beginning.

Considering the vastness of India, the path ahead is enormously challenging as we want our impact to reach farther and deeper. We are sure with the benevolence, support, guidance and good wishes from people, BCS will keep growing and many more common young people will access politics and provide leadership to our country in future.

SESSION

Dattatray Dhanakawade

Mayor, Pune City

As a mayor of this city, I welcome you all to this 6th Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad. The efforts taken by Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad over the last five years are lending a hand to strengthening the democracy. The youth have played a decisive role in the history of national movements and social reforms in the country from the very beginning. Many activists rising out of the students' movement have become eminent leaders at the state and national levels. I feel proud that a movement like the Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad, which encourages the leadership qualities in the youth, is being organized in this great city of Pune. The youth should enter politics in a big way as politics offers solutions to a lot of problems. Pune has a reputation that whatever starts in this city reaches completion. I am sure that Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad will also reach its logical conclusion in the interest of the nation.

“ I feel proud that a movement like the Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad, which encourages the leadership qualities in the youth, is being organized in this great city of Pune.”

6TH BHARATIYA CHHATRA SANSAD

Girish Bapat

Minister for Parliamentary Affairs, Food, Civil Supplies and Consumer Protection, Food and Drugs Administration, Govt. of Maharashtra & Guardian Minister, Pune

This is a historic occasion. For the last five years consecutively, the students from various states of this country are being encouraged and trained to enter active politics for nation building. There are many leaders over here who will guide you, but to practice good politics, one has to be active. Mahatma Gandhi once said that the evil in this country is not because there are more evil people, but it is because the good are silent. Please do not be silent. Whenever you see injustice being done, you must react. More active youth in politics will always augur well for politics in future. I am sure that in the next ten years the organizers will not require to call politicians like me, because you will be the next MPs, MLAs or Ministers in this country.

“ Please do not be silent. Whenever you see injustice being done, you must react. More active youth in politics will always augur well for politics in future.”

INAUGURAL SESSION

BRIEFING ON CONCEPT OF BHARATIYA CHHATRA SANSAD

Rahul V. Karad

Founder Convenor,
Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad

I welcome all of you, who have come not only with commitment, but with a lot of hope and expectations that here is a platform which will show some path for the making of India. This is a national platform, which does not belong to any particular political party and we had to struggle quite a bit in the initial years to establish that. I am glad that almost all the states in the country have endorsed this conclave and welcomed the initiative taken by us. Whatever doubts that I had nurtured about this movement are now disappearing as I even see many students from Europe assembled over here. Last year, we had youth from Florida University in USA. Through the Chief Minister of Maharashtra, I would like to make an appeal that just like IIMs and IITs, we should have Indian Institutes of Leadership also all across the country. This, I am sure, will help create quality leaders for our country. I can also say with pride that the resolution that we had made in our past parliament regarding student elections in Maharashtra has borne fruit and soon college elections will be held in Maharashtra. I hope all of you will demonstrate in the next four days how an ideal parliament should be conducted.

“Through the Chief Minister of Maharashtra, I would like to make an appeal that on the basis of IIMs and IITs, we should have Indian Institutes of Leadership also all across the country.”

People call me a 'dangerous optimist'! the reason is all of you! You are the greatest strength of this country and as we make this country from a third world country to the third most powerful country in the world, it is you who will make that dream come true. Amongst you, I am already seeing the mindset of being a first world country. Satyam, Shivam, Sundaram! Satya Nadela, today the CEO of Microsoft, Sundar Pichai today the CEO of Google, some Shiva will come who will come and take over Apple, and that may well be from amongst you! Things are changing now. Earlier we wanted to go abroad and find jobs in Microsoft and Google. Now, we want to create our own Microsoft and our own Google in India. That's a fantastic change in our mindset. Now we want to create jobs instead of getting a job! There are three important things; one is innovation, the second is passion and the third is compassion. I say that India's future is in IT; that is not in information technology, but Indian Talent!

“Earlier we wanted to go abroad and find jobs in Microsoft and Google. Now, we want to create our own Microsoft and our own Google in India.”

Meenakshi Lekhi

Member of Parliament, Lok Sabha
National Spokesperson (BJP)

It is not that everything that is ancient is unscientific and everything that is modern is scientific. What is ancient could actually be science and what is modern could actually be a hoax. The youth which are going to change the country's future need to realize this. If our country has given us some of the best mathematicians, it is due to the fact that they had some impact of Vedic sciences on them. The tradition and culture of our country has been that women have had the liberty to express their views in public places. Unfortunately the media of today focuses on obscure things around the country while forgetting this glorious past of ours. Swami Vivekananda said that I don't want the youth to only excel in academics. I want their physical energy also, which has the power to change the fate of the nation. This is the glorious history of India and ironically, today, after so many years of independence, we are talking of women's empowerment! Women of India are already empowered. What they only need is safety and respect. That respect, which was already available to them even in ancient India.

“Women of India are already empowered. What they only need is safety and respect.”

MAITREYEE PURASKAR

Maitreyee Puraskar being conferred upon Kumari Selja, MP (RS), for her outstanding work towards women empowerment & parliamentary practices.

INSPIRING YOUTH, STRENGTHENING DEMOCRACY

6TH BHARATIYA CHHATRA SANSAD

Kumari Selja

Member of Parliament, Rajya Sabha, (INC)

Our former Prime Minister Late. Shri Rajiv Gandhi was a firm believer in the power of the youth and their participation and decided to vote for youth power.

Youth Participation is good for our democracy. Near about 70% of the total population is under the age of 35 years. Youth holds the key for national development and it reflects the awareness and the interest in modern technology which has drastically changed the interaction pattern. These new technology offers immense opportunity to the youth.

Active participation of youth is being initiated from colleges and other Universities. Also they start career from campus politics. Most political parties have youth in it. You all are the future of the nation and the leaders of this young India. We have to first respect ourselves as human beings otherwise we will divide according to our caste, creed, and religion. To build this nation, we have to realize the importance of various issues and their awareness among citizens. India will not grow until we all will work in unity.

“ Youth holds the key for national development and it reflects the awareness and the interest in modern technology which has drastically changed the interaction pattern.”

Kuldip Nayar

I am thankful to you all for giving me this award even at this age. When I look back at my 98 years, I remember two things most distinctly. One is the partition of India, when we left our home in Sialkot and had to walk right up to Amritsar. We realized that we had nothing of our own and were penniless. Since I was educated by that time, I managed to go to the USA for further studies and there I worked during the nights to earn money. I would like to tell the students not to be afraid of anything as long as you have confidence in yourself. Leave an example of your hard work and sincerity for the future generations to follow. The other thing I remember is the Internal Emergency of 1975. The light of democracy was extinguished on the day it was declared. We must resolve that there will not be a dictator in our country again. Always remember, India is a democracy. There is pluralism here. We should try to establish an egalitarian society where no one is too rich or too poor. I urge you to elaborate on this 'Idea of India'. All the best to you!

INAUGURAL SESSION

Devendra Fadnavis

Chief Minister
Government of Maharashtra

This is the third time that I have been on the dais of Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad. The kind of energy and thought churning I see over here, and the kind of resolutions that are passed, I feel that Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad has underlined itself as one of the most important platforms of youth power in the country. The important thing about this conclave is that it is apolitical and gives access to all political ideologies to express themselves. Our destination is a developed India, where every person is equal and free. We have always dreamed of an India to be a Vishwa Guru (teacher of the world) and not a Vishwa Vijeta (world conqueror). We are not conquerors. Instead, we want to show the pathway to the world. We may belong to any ideology, our ultimate aim has to be India's development, and development of humanity. If are not able to convert our burgeoning population into a powerful human resource, then this demographic advantage that we have may well become a demographic disaster! Those who wish to enter politics, please remember that politics is an instrument for social and political changes and not a means to earn money.

“We have always dreamed of an India to be a Vishwa Guru (teacher of the world) and not a Vishwa Vijeta (world conqueror). We are not conquerors. Instead, we want to show the pathway to the world.”

I feel proud when I look at you and the quality of decency, decorum and dignity which you have been exhibiting in this 6th Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad. It is something very unique! I am a great believer that if you the youngsters who are showing so much sense of commitment and conviction and courage that you will make India a different India with high democratic values and human rights adherence, I feel that those words of wisdom of Swami Vivekananda will certainly come true only because you have understood the mission behind it. During the recently concluded Parliament of World's Religions, which I had the privilege to attend and address, when I told the 10000 delegates what India stands for, I realized that the whole world is looking to Mother India with great hope and expectation. The Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad is a great learning process and you are the people who are going to show the pathway of harmony and peace to the entire mankind.

“The Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad is a great learning process and you are the people who are going to show the pathway of harmony and peace to the entire mankind.”

Alyque Padamsee

Acclaimed Indian Theater Personality & Ad Guru

I am really addressing all of you who are at the back. Soon you will be in the front row. Don't worry, give it a couple of years and you will be in the front seat. 50% of the population today is under the age of 25, which means that in age of technocracy, we have got a fantastic advantage. Is young India a slave of the past or is it the catalyst of the future? Yesterday's India is full of double-speak. I can only hope that tomorrow's India is not today's India. In tomorrow's India, all of you are there, are going to actually work to change this and not merely give speeches. Bhashan band, kaam shuru!

Now you are going to sweep away the rubbish not only through Swachh India, but through fresh ways of living up to the Indian constitution through deeds and not just words. It is one of the finest documents ever written and I have been through all the countries' constitutions, the Indian constitution is the finest. But it's only good if we live up to it.

I say to you if you can innovate ideas in technology why not innovate ideas which can replace bribery? Why not innovate ideas which can replace nepotism? Why not discrimination? Ideas that can change India so that we can have all citizens as equal and with equal opportunities?

“Now you are going to sweep away the rubbish not only through Swachh India, but through fresh ways of living up to the Indian constitution through deeds and not just words.”

I am sure all the bright students gathered here must be benefitted because of the number of speakers that they are getting to hear in this parliament. This is going to be greatly inspirational to you all. We are proud of Satya Nadella and Sundar Pichai who are the CEOs of two of the biggest software companies in the world.

But at the same time we are even more proud of those Indians, who having obtained the best education overseas, have come back to India to work for the country. There are a number of people like this, who have returned to India with the drive that they want to do something for the nation. We started Zensar about 15 years ago in Pune with about 400 people.

Today, the same company employs 8400 people, including more than 1200 foreigners. Now we have plans to make Pune a 100% digitally literate city. We are going to give training to people in various strata and at various levels of literacy and make them fully digitally aware. You can also play a role in this, by aiming to make at least two people digitally literate during your lifetime. You should pick a goal in your life and not stop unless it is reached.

“There are a number of people like this, who have returned to India with the drive that they want to do something for the nation.”

INAUGURAL SESSION

Chandu Borde

Veteran Former Cricketer

There are challenges for you people because the development has taken so much over the last few years. When you face these challenges, one thing I would like to tell you. Play with a straight bat. I am not used to that 20-20 cricket. It is such that you play with a cross bat and you never know when you will get out. But when you play straight with a straight bat, you last longer. You may make a mistake, but to correct that mistake is important. And my advice to you youngsters, play with a straight bat. That will help you in life, be confident about it. You have to face lot of different phases, you know, difficulties when you finish your education or whatever challenge. Therefore to face those challenges, play with a straight bat. That way, you will last longer and I am sure you will perform well. I have observed that those who were flamboyant cricketers, they just wanted to perform for a short while to enjoy themselves. They are no more, but the people who wanted to achieve something, those are the people, and they are still performing well in cricket field and their life also.

“When you play straight with a straight bat, you last longer. You may make a mistake, but to correct that mistake is important.”

Many people will come to you in these four days and will talk to you. I will just tell you to keep your minds open, don't react to what the electronic channels shout. I will advise you one thing; please analyze in life, don't get emotional what they talk about. They may be extreme left or right, listen to them carefully and analyze them.

Dr. Ambedkar gave such a big gift to India and that is the Constitution. It has every right of freedom and expression! That's what Dr. Ambedkar gave us. And to me, I always say that's the greatest religious book. You may be anybody. Maybe a Hindu worshipping Geeta, maybe a Muslim worshipping Koran or a Christian worshipping Bible, but this is all in the premises of your house or in the prayer house like a mandir or a masjid. But it's my humble request to you that when you are in the society, the only holy book is the Constitution of India! There is no other holy book and that will give this country such a great wisdom!

“But it's my humble request to you that when you are in the society, the only holy book is the Constitution of India!”

Tushar Gandhi

Founder, Mahatma Gandhi Foundation

I always get disturbed when the youth are told that tomorrow belongs to them. Actually, today should belong to them, because tomorrow they won't be young any more. Second thing that disturbs me is when we talk about startups and Make in India, everyone refers to Google, Microsoft, Apple and other companies abroad. Does that mean there was no startup in India? In fact, one of the biggest Make in India was Amul in Gujarat, which is the best example of social entrepreneurship. Why do we always forget that some of the best startups are in our villages and not in our cities? Cities have profit making concerns. I don't hold a grudge against profit making concerns. But startups like Amul provide wealth to thousands of people from thousands of towns and villages. Even a startup like Fabindia has enriched the artisans and producers of villages. We should be inspired by such examples of startups. Only then will the country prosper. Large corporations have a place for themselves, but the country prospers only from such type of startups.

“Why do we always forget that some of the best startups are in our villages and not in our cities? startups like Amul provide wealth to thousands of people from thousands of towns and villages.”

No one on earth, in a country like India can have an iota of doubt on the significance of such a kind of thing in the best environment that we are a part of. Trust me, the message is loud and clear that all of us are looking forward to growth of nation India. It is said that we are 60th in global ranking and we have been surprised by the nation which was also referred to like Brazil & South Africa. When we talk of one thing of one breath we also talk through same breath our GDP figures in PPEP terms we talk about many other things so there is some decoct. I am just raising the pain when we will despite of the best of the best natural recourses, best of the best demographic dividend. When will that morning come when we will get to be labeled as the nation that has arrived? We want to wake up. I am just saying that youth have to play their proactive role but not a passive role. Proactive role by youth who are pursuing the career in politics. Having heard since morning that ample opportunity & scope is available, my appeal to youth is taking it with the sense of seriousness & sincerity of purpose. Be there in it with the commitment and passion that has been explained to you & trust me our nation India is in the safe hands.

“When will that morning come when we will get to be labeled as the nation that has arrived?”

A mother took her small child to a store. There the child kept looking at the jar of chocolates on the counter. The shopkeeper and his mother urged him to take a few chocolates. He kept on refusing. In the end, as they were about to leave, he kept on looking longingly at the jar of chocolates. Seeing this, the shopkeeper handed out to a fistful of chocolates to the child, who accepted them and put them in his bag. When his mother asked him why he had refused to take the chocolates himself, he replied that since his hands were small he would not have been able to take many chocolates. But since the shopkeeper's hand was large, he was able to give him more number of chocolates. I urge the youth leaders not to let go of their aim in life, just like the child.

A group of panchayats make a tehsil, a group of tehsils make a district and a group of district makes a state. A number of states makes the country. We have the army protecting the borders of our country. But there is no army that protects the border between two states. That is the trust that we have developed.

How can we contribute towards what we desire for peaceful tomorrow? If we go through fundamentals of all the religions and ideologies, we will surely find one thing in common that is promotion of peace while keeping in mind the universal idea “VASUDHAIV KUTUMBAKAM”, which means the world is a family, I think there is a great amount of possibility for us to achieve our goal of national integration through culture and constitution, stronger states for stronger India, spiritualization of politics and many more.

“ We strongly believe in “VASUDHAIV KUTUMBAKAM” which means the world is a family. ”

Friends we like to project ourselves on social media sites, but when it comes to voicing our opinions on politics, we hesitate and shy away. Why are we scared of the politicians? This platform gives us the opportunity to express ourselves to focus on the social issues of critical importance. The deplorable state of Indian politics is because youth today are not interested & also because they do not have a platform. Today, we have only handful of young leaders to lead us. What we need are more role models & enthusiastic youth to lead us, to show us a path to succeed to change in this 21st century where the globalization and free economy are path to progress and success.

A country is not made up of soil, but it is made up of people. It is high time the world realizes that India is a true union of states, it's time that we realize that the strength of the state is the strength of the country. India is predicted to be one of the 3rd largest economies of the world. But it's not just from Delhi, Bangalore, Chennai or Hyderabad, but also from the farm lands of Punjab & Andhra Pradesh, from the tourism of Goa & Kashmir, from tea plantation & forests of Assam & Nagaland, to the industrial infrastructure of Gujarat & Maharashtra.

“ Its time that we realize that the strength of the state is the strength of the country, we realize that strength of the state is the strength of India. ”

Mohd. Khurshid Hussain, Andhra Pradesh

All 29 states from the North, East, South & West are of equal importance & can be referred as strong pillars, plus the dome which can be referred as central government. We as a country we are still developing. Does everyone want to contribute towards nation building? How can the pillars i.e. the states be made stronger to get positive results? The answers are very easy. The ways through which it can be easily brought are; spreading awareness about PIS & RTs, Introduction of NOTA in election, which will pressurize political party at every level to nominate a right person.

“ We as a country we are still developing, but when will we emerge as a powerful nation? ”

We know the reality of the country is not as smooth and friction-less as it seems in conferences like this. If one wants to speak the truth in politics, then it should be stated honestly and in a matter-of-fact way, without exaggeration. Even if the truth is bitter, one should not be afraid of it, as this is the true identity of being young. Please do not be afraid to question, but let the bitterness be only regarding the truth and not in your voice and demeanour. But be sure that you don't lose the edge of truth. When linguistic states were being formed in India, there was a doubt in the minds of some people whether they will work or not. I want to remind you that there is an old tradition in this country that loyalty to states over nation is not quite in conformity with our nationalism. Our nationalism states that there is unity in diversity. It is unlike that in Europe. For a large and diverse country like ours, the European solutions do not work. Our Constitution recognizes linguistic diversity and there is no national language in our country. Multiple identities have been recognized in our country. In fact, regional parties have actually saved the unity of India.

“Please do not be afraid to question, but let the bitterness be only regarding the truth and not in your voice and demeanour.”

Terrorism is the biggest challenge in today's world. I would like to assert with confidence that no religion accepts or allows injustice towards others. Some people who want to do injustice and sufferings on others, misuse religion as a shield. India has given the true interpretation of Islam. For an Indian Muslim, there is no better place than India. It is only due to politics that different religions are speaking for their own religion. The ideal situation should be when a Muslim starts speaking for Hindus or vice versa. This day will come soon. Religion cannot be forced upon anyone. And if someone tries it, the people of India will not allow it to happen. If injustice is being made on the name of Islam by certain terrorist organizations, it is the responsibility of the Muslims to resist that and not that of the government. Injustice is being done on the Muslims of the whole world through this. They are being maligned by calling this as Jihad, whereas Jihad is a very pure act and not an act of killing others. It is incumbent upon the youth to establish peace and unity in the world.

“Let me tell you that for an Indian Muslim, there is no better place than India. It is only due to politics that different religions are speaking for their own religion.”

I am proud to be associated with this land of Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj. I am also proud of the fact that an ancestor of mine Pt. Gangadhar Bhatt was the one who carried out the coronation of Chhatrapati Shivaji. When we look at the spelling of India, we can see that I means Independent. We should respect the independence of our country. The second letter is N, which means Nationality. D stands for Democracy. Being the largest democracy in the world, we need to respect it. The next letter is I, which stands for Integrity. We need to protect it. It is the responsibility of the youth to do so. The next letter A stands for Action. I will urge the youth that now is the time to take action. I have rarely seen such variety or originality in any other country as one sees in India. We have a strong nation, but it is on the youth to make it stronger.

It was Gandhiji who made spiritualization of politics a ground reality and led several movements for political freedom for decades successfully. He re-interpreted the seven sins and social evils as Politics without Principles, Wealth without Consciousness, Pleasure without Consciousness, Knowledge without Character, Commerce without Morality, Science without Humanity and Worship without Sacrifice. Gandhiji put spiritualization of politics in a very simple way and as an experimental scientist, he put all acts to test against truth. It was Gandhiji who spoke contrary to other religions leaders from several thousand years and also said that "Truth is God and not God is Truth". Because we can test the truth with our wisdom and experience of truth.

“Gandhiji put spiritualization of politics in a very simple way and as an experimental scientist, he put all acts to test against truth.”

There is a misconception that everyone in politics is corrupt. It is not so, there are good people in politics also. If learned people don't come into politics, it will be a big loss to the country. I think BCS is an effort in the right direction. Mahatma Gandhi once said that he cannot imagine politics without religion. It is meaningless. Most of the wars are fought over either over money, women or land. The battle of Mahabharata was a bit different. It was for the protection or establishment of the truth. The truth was destroyed because the people in power did not do anything to protect the common people. In fact they were a party to it. Religion means performing one's duty. If you do good unto others, you will be appreciated. If you don't then you will have to face criticism.

I stand before you to express my firm conviction in the belief, that spirituality of politics is a vision very well achievable and not an ever-fading illusion. The many so-called realists might argue with this thought as a mere romanticized notion. It is important that we realize that by keeping spirituality away from politics, it is going to corrupt man's biggest social experiment beyond the point of recognition. But then as students with a scientific attitude, our first question is, whether this idealistic picture of politics is even possible, whether it will happen before this amalgamation of spirituality with politics?

“ By keeping spirituality away from politics, it is going to corrupt man's biggest social experiment beyond the point of recognition. ”

K. Devaki Krishna Sai, Andhra Pradesh

Believe me, God will never create any wonders and miracles. Because whatever he wanted, he has done it by creating you. Now it's our duty to perform them. It is we who invented the computers, internet, satellite, space stations etc. Every invention is the manifestation of your true potential. Spirituality is not a religion. The essence of all the religions is spirituality. But spirituality never proposes any one single religion. The developed nations recognized the power of India through Vivekananda, not because he preached religion but because he manifested on a global platform the true essence of spirituality.

“ Spirituality is not a religion. The essence of all the religions is spirituality. ”

There are people who will sit back and say if change needs to come, the gods will bring it... that's not spirituality!! But there are others who would roll up their sleeves and get to work. How else could slavery have got removed, women got their voting rights, Native Americans got equal recognition and we got our own independence? Karl Marx changed the world with one sentence “Workers of the world, Unite!” One moment and just one moment of truth and inspiration is enough to change the face of the world.

“ There are people who will sit back and say if change needs to come, the gods will bring it... that's not spirituality!! ”

Former Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri had once said that true democracy cannot be achieved through lies and violence. This country needs a true, influential and skilled democracy. Because of some bad politicians, the quality of politics in our country has gone down drastically. So, it should be our aim to spiritualize politics. It is important for the politicians to note that politics is not for misusing their position but for the welfare of the people with the help of politics. Devoid of spirituality, politics breeds corruption.

Yes, it is important to help the government in order to develop the underdeveloped states. It is about India as a whole country, e.g. States like Goa, Himachal Pradesh and Haryana are all small in size and due to this reason; they have better governance and a good development system. What we notice is that many of the regions are lagging behind in education. The main reason is that 8 out of 10 people are going to other states to study. The other reason is the universities and colleges in those states are not able to keep pace with the developed ones. Young and creative leaders can change the nation.

“Young and creative leaders can change the nation. India will perform only when its people will perform.”

After being humiliated in the court of Magadh, Chanakya did not go to any king for help, but instead, he nurtured a roadside boy named Chandragupta and anointed him on the throne of Magadh. I think it is the duty of every Chanakya to ensure that whenever the people in authority become blind with power, behave like that they have become the owners of this country and start misusing the Constitution, they should come together and oust those who are misusing their power. Politics is a religion in itself. When Lokmanya Tilak was asked what he will do if and when India becomes independent, he said, “I am a professor of mathematics and I will go back to teaching, since my duty of obtaining independence to the country would have been performed.” Politicians must remember that they have to respect the purpose for which they have taken to politics. If politicians stop listening, then the people of religion, education, spirituality etc. will have to act against them. Have the politicians of today lost the ability to speak out against their own leaders? That is why I say, create a religion of politics but not politics of religion.

“I think it is the duty of every Chanakya to ensure that whenever the people in authority become blind with power, they should form a political party and oust those who are misusing power and try to attain power themselves.”

Swami Vigyananand

Social Activist, Joint Secretary,

One thought says that politics is the last refuge of a scoundrel. Another thought is that politics makes strange bedfellows. Bheeshma said that all the knowledge of the world is intertwined in politics. The highest amount of sacrifice is also seen in politics. The minister is the one who regulates. If a prime minister of a state stays in a hut, his citizens stay in large houses and if he stays in a palace, it is likely that his subjects stay in huts. Politics is like a boat, which is anchored by truth. The wind is his renunciation. For politics to be clean, we have to use both these factors, renunciation and truth. Dr. Rajendra Prasad, India's first President had said, "India needs nothing more than honest men, capable men of character, who will have interest of the country before them." Carlisle had once said that good men must enter politics otherwise the scoundrels who were bothering you from outside will form the government and rule the people.

“India needs nothing more than honest men, capable men of character, who will have interest of the country before them.”

Spiritualization of politics is neither a vision nor an illusion. It's a necessity. When I talk about spirituality, I don't want to conflict it with religion. I want to talk about spirituality as a higher purpose that motivates us. When we think about what this higher purpose could be and what we are trying to achieve, you don't have to look very far... just look at the ideals that are embedded in the preamble of our Constitution. It tells us that we have to achieve equality, justice, fraternity & liberty. That's all you need in terms of a spiritual ideal to motivate you and to guide you in a political career.

To be able to create an environment where people can come in and involve themselves in public service for ten years or twenty years and then go back, rather than make a lifetime career out of this will ensure that we will build this India, not necessarily focused on our own ambitions as persons but an ambition for India as a great nation.

“The preamble tells us that we the people of India have a vision to achieve equality, justice, fraternity & liberty of various kinds and that we want to build an India where all those things become something that we live: in thought, word and deed.”

Tushar Gandhi

Founder,
Mahatma Gandhi Foundation

Unfortunately we are very confused about these words Spiritualism, Religiosity, etc. How will the spiritualization of politics happen if as a society we do not become spiritually empowered? Politics is not a divine force. It is not a hereditary force where only a select few can enter. Spiritualization should make us understand this because unless society and the individual become spiritually empowered, there will be no spiritualization of politics. Spiritualization is the awakening of the soul and the understanding that the power of the soul is much greater than the power of the individual, and then true spiritualization will happen in all aspects of life. Otherwise we just make you know nice sounding speeches. I would plead with you, make a friendly study of scriptures and then you will understand the spiritualism in religion.

“Unless society and the individual becomes spiritually empowered, there will be no spiritualization of politics.”

There are several factors in education, and the unity in diversity concept, which are a reality in India. It is said that religion is an accident of geography. It may be true for other countries, but in our country, even if you belong to any religion, you are born an Indian. We have to look at humanity as one of the species on this planet, responsible for its well-being. Peace and security, external or internal are essential for the country's true progress. Integrity, honesty and trustworthiness are essential for the prosperity of the society. Prosperity is the result of productivity and efficiency, which require the highest levels of productive skills, technological excellence and human effort.

Despite the invasions that took place on our country for centuries, there is one thing that still keeps us united and that is the Indian culture. The concept of attaining purification in certain rivers across India, the practice of appointing South Indian priests in temples of North India are some such things that keep India as one. The very first line of the Constitution of India, “We the people...” includes people of all religions, castes and creeds. Fundamental rights have been given to every citizen and also there are certain duties of each citizen. Our constitution is flexible and rigid at the same time. All those who have broken away from our culture have faced difficulties. We have to find answers to the challenges faced by the unity of the country today. For this, we have to respect and follow what is written in the Constitution of India.

India is a country of diversities. Our leaders of yesteryears, dreamed of a nation that despite its diversities, can be woven into one. Just as the multiple colours of the rainbow enhance its beauty, so does the diversity of our country. When people of all cultures, regions, faiths reaffirm that first of all they are Indians, it speaks volumes about the unity of India. It is sad that the country is still suffering because of the violence caused by religions, caste and creeds, even after nearly seven decades of independence. We have to make the Constitution and culture of India as the bridge that unites the country.

“ Just as the multiple colours of the rainbow enhance its beauty, so does the diversity of our country.”

Virendra Thakur, Maharashtra

If after 68 years of independence, we are still talking about integrating the country, there is a problem. It seems that we don't know how to bring the country together. Indian culture is not taking a few dishes from various states and mixing them together to make a mixed recipe. It's much more than that. Unfortunately the education that we are having is dividing us. Yoga, Vedas, etc. are our culture and our heritage. Religion is a part of culture and not vice versa. You need to raise your voice to bring in national integration.

“ If after 68 years of independence, we are still talking about integrating the country, there is a problem.”

Development of a state only when its people engage in a dialogue to unravel the essence of acceptance in the cultural diversities that exist. Our country has more than 1600 spoken languages. We are so different yet so united. Due to the cultural diversities of our country, our people are intermingling with each other in political, social and economic activities, which continue to expand and broaden the horizons of our great nation. National integration requires reconciliation of all the cultural diversities. Communalism must be rejected in order to harbour tolerance in its true spirit.

“Development of a state happens only when its people engage in a dialogue to unravel the essence of acceptance in the cultural diversities that exist.”

Janhavi Desai, Maharashtra

Is it possible that a few members of a family become prosperous while others remain poor and destitute? Similarly, it is not possible that some states stay weak while others prosper in a country. If required, they should be augured by providing them with financial and other types of aid. If those states of India that are mineral-rich, get to keep the entire revenue from their mines, they will be the most prosperous states in India. Because of uneven progress of different states, the youth from these states have had to migrate to other states. Youth have to follow the ideals shown to us by Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj.

The name of India evokes an emotion, a devotion and a belief. Is it possible that in a family, a few members become prosperous while others remain impoverished? How can one call it a progressive family? In the same way, India cannot progress with the help of a few prosperous states. All the states have to grow at the same rate so that we can create a strong and vibrant nation. Let us all come and work together to realize the dream of Swami Vivekananda!

The English word 'culture' is inadequate to express the exact meaning of its Hindi counterpart, which is 'sanskriti'. This word 'sanskriti' is more encompassing. The Constitution is a system which changes according to country, time and circumstances. It can be amended, so long as the amendments are done constitutionally. We all have individual ways of behaviour. Culture is nothing but the collective behaviour of the society. Even if generations of the society change, its basic behaviour, its nature, does not change. Our culture, since time immemorial says that the world is one family or "Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam". Our Constitution has not denied anyone any rights. In India, uniformity is not necessary for unity. We have unity in diversity, because diversity is the evolution of unity. India has demonstrated to the world that we can work together despite having diversities and also accepting diversities of others. The rights and duties of every citizen from the President downwards have been described in our Constitution. To discharge the duties with diligence depends on every citizen of the country.

“In India, uniformity is not necessary for unity. We have unity in diversity, because diversity is the evolution of unity.”

I have been waiting for the day when the young people will rise. I hope the young people will translate and internalize whatever they have been speaking on this platform and use their energy to transform our country. I want to ask them, "When you become a leader, will you change your class, your parliament, the picture of our legislature?" Today we are discussing a very important issue – Culture and Constitution. Our Constitution is the longest constitution with many good thoughts from so many other constitutions of the world. It is our culture that has created this Constitution. I am glad that this platform several dimensions of our Indian society. Politics is essentially for societal transformation. I urge the young people not to waste time on their campuses. I would like to see their commitment on the floor of the parliament.

OPENING REMARKS

Vice Chancellor, Vikram University,

In my opinion, there is no competition between military and police, because constitution of both forces are different. One is fighting with the enemy of the nation and country while another is fighting with the enemy of the society. For one, the enemy is known, while for the other, the enemy is within the society and therefore unknown. It is notable that there are only about 15 lakh police personnel to guard 125 crore people. This is not enough to maintain law and order. People doubt and fear police instead of considering them as their friends. The global fear of terrorist attack has put great pressure on police force in country. A large number of police are deployed on protection of VIP's. So I think for army and police, we have to go for full modernization.

The police are there to maintain internal security, while the army is looking after the borders of the country. The name of the Indian army is taken with honour all over the world. I believe it is due to the training it receives. If the politicians are also trained in the same way as the army, they will be the pride of the nation. Similarly, if the police become Strict and Sensible, Modern and Mobile, Adult and Accountable, Reliable and Responsive, Technosavvy and Trained, i.e. SMART, the police too can be revitalized. A lot of negativity is projected about the police as compared to that of army in the public platform. If all these forces discharge their responsibilities like they should, there should not be any negativity about them whatsoever. I believe the youth can also contribute to their capacity, there will be a day when India can be referred to as the Vishwa Guru.

Youth are leaders not only of future but also for present. A great nation like India, which has 60% of population which falls under the age of 40yrs, has power to change the world. There is too much negativity in politics and to welcome a new positivity youth should come forward and show what they demand for and what they care for.

Even after so many years we are as vulnerable to terrorist attacks as Mumbai was on 26/11. It took the news of 26/11 hardly 10 minutes to reach the top of the government of the state, but ten long hours for India's best security forces to arrive at the scene. The delay might help to explain the situation why it took the best security force of India to counter this problem in 3 long days. No doubt, our Incredible India possesses the 3rd largest army in the world yet this is not sufficient enough for a nation amid the most hostile nuclear weapon regions of the world.

“For the many proposals announced in the wake of 26/11, none but a few ineffectual projects having little bearing on our preparedness, have been rightfully implemented.”

Poornima Pawar, Maharashtra

Preparedness, when positively pursued, is a way of life, not what we think as a state of tension. The military and the police have their own state of preparedness as they work on different platforms and hence they are powerful in their own way. I most certainly believe that they must not be compared. As citizens we have seen that the military has been called in to watch out for the civil services and the police, but never the other way around. The military is the ultimate weapon of our country, and it has to be powerful.

How alert is the army? We can think about this when we reflect on what all the nation has given them. Substandard equipment and fighter planes with faulty parts, which have taken the lives of so many young Indian flying officers. There is such a wide gap between the civil services and the army. Our army is fighting on the deathly heights of Siachen, where the temperatures can go down to -61 degrees. The army is for war while the police are for maintaining peace. In spite of all this, we sleep peacefully at home assured of security by our army on our borders and by our police within.

“How alert is the army? We can think about this when we reflect on what all the nation has given them.”

Amit Kumar, Jharkhand

There is nothing like your motherland. We should be ready to live and die for it. It is found that the army is also called many a times for providing internal security. Even if a child falls in a tube-well, the army is called. The Indian army has moved forward but the police seem to have moved backward. They are given tasks much beyond their capabilities. They work without rest for hours and days and get paid poorly in return. We will have to treat both the forces at par if the country has to progress.

Every citizen wants to know how safe or secure we are from external threats. But ever prevalent is the threat from within. The internal security dimension. It is a challenge to all of us. The security mechanism in the insurgency affected areas is headed by the political leadership and has the presence of all elements of security forces, including the army, the services, the intelligent units, the police, NGOs etc. What I conclude with my continuous interaction with the public, the politicians and the youth is that the youth have tremendous potential to resolve any kind of conflict. There is nothing that you cannot overcome. The sky is the limit for you. The state of preparedness is because of the high degree of training that we undergo. We have to have discipline and dedication towards the nation. We owe it to the nation.

It is really overwhelming to be here. We journalists like to call ourselves Almighty, potent and knowledgeable. As a journalist, I am not prepared to comment on the preparedness of the Indian forces because what they are doing, I have never done in my life. The police is the first fault line in the defence of India. There is a much larger risk of insurgency and terrorism. The terrorists are people like you and me. The first person to locate, identify, arrest and prosecute the terrorist is the police. Our first line of defence has several fault lines in it. The police are severely demoralized due to several reasons. The police need to be deeply engaging with the community to prevent crimes.

We are proud of those Indians who take higher education abroad and then return to India and work for the wellbeing and development of their motherland. One of them is Anshul Arora, who is an MBA from Harvard and who has returned to India and is operating a school from KG to 12th standard. The next is Sahana Sharma, who is working for McKinsey. The next is Manpreet Kaur, who is working for Zensar and is the Director of HBS Club. Then we have Vineeta Bajoria, who is working for her family concern Titograd Wagons. There are more than 1500 alumni of HBS who are working in various areas in our country. They would like to participate in various activities and take initiatives to contribute to the society. I am sure that the programs like BCS will empower the youth of India to work for the betterment of the country.

Politics is not a game but a serious business. No country has ever made economic progress unless all the citizens of the nation have worked with harmony and unison, collaborating the political power as well as the corporate management rules. But 1st priority of any citizen at any government states should be to bring back the confidence to entrust enthusiasm and to entrust the energy in each and every citizen of their nation. We have to have the desire and enthusiasm to implement the policies. In order to get success you have to have determination.

I did my research in corporate sector in corporate company. Does the corporate sector have positive influence on democracy or not? It does, because my research became a business case and my recommendation was not only implemented in hospitals across the Netherlands but also on the insurance company that I collaborated with.

For me, it's amazing to witness the Indian youth is offered this platform for ideas and values to be shared and I am truly looking forward to the future of India and you all.

“I would like to start by saying what I believe in, we the students also contribute to the democracy by choosing the research that can add more value in governance as well as in corporate.”

Mr. P. V. Narasimha Rao is responsible for single-handedly dismantling the Licence Raj Era and opening the doors of liberalization. The government’s sincere efforts towards women empowerment are seen through the mandate of women representation in the board of directors of companies. CSR, Corporate Social Responsibility is another attempt by the government to give back to the society what the corporate take from it. Most importantly, our country fosters a healthy competition, it is not monopolistic but flexible. Ask any businessman, what he wants today, the unified answer would be ease to do business.

“The governments sincere efforts towards women empowerment are seen through the mandate of women representation in the board of directors of companies.”

With proper governance, life will improve for all. The need of the hour is economic reforms that put forth the engagement of corporate in the nation building policy. We have had reforms like Make in India, Start-up India, Digital India etc. India's economic growth rate has become the global growth challenger. We need to understand that in this ever progressing, ever growing world, there is a need to integrate, collaborate and partner with the market changers.

The corporate sector in India is very much looking forward to playing a big constructive role in nation building. The core sectors would be first Judiciary, whose benefits are at best eclipsed by the outdated procedure which leads to cases being dragged on for decades. Next would be defence, where we have one of the best armies in the world but depend on overseas armament & suppliers to buy defence armaments. With the Govt. opening up defence production to the Indian private sector, it will become self-sufficient. Then would be education, considering that the Indian education system is completely out of sync with the current requirements causing poor employability. Skill development is being talked about, but very less is being done in this sector. Agriculture and transportation would be next.

The Indian corporate sector is very enthusiastic and proactive in bringing about prosperity to the Indian economy & its masses. We would encourage a very healthy debate between the Govt. & the corporate sector.

We are here because we have a common goal, whether we are here as students, whether we are here as corporates, whether we are here as government. We are here to help see the great potential we see in each of ourselves that we see in our companies and our country, and as my colleague said, 'the World's Eyes are on us'. The eyes of the world are on India because we have 500 million young people under the age of 25. India will reach its potential if each of the individuals reach their potential. And in order to do that, the heart and soul of achieving that is education. If you look over the last 15-20 years, India has made great progress in education. We have some of the highest enrolment rates in school. We also have some of the poorest levels of quality and quality outcomes across a wide variety of surveys in education. So there is a great need to push quality in every area of education, early education, primary, secondary, vocational and higher education.

As we look ahead at the world, India is now on the centre stage and India is considered as “the bright spot in the world.” Everyone in the world, the economic forum is talking about the GDP of India and what the potential is for growth. Let me just outline a few areas where I think the cooperation is going to be especially essential. India's women are amongst the most educated in Asia. Yet when you look at labor participation it actually has the lowest labor participation across all of the Asian countries. This has to be looked at both through cooperation of what corporate can do but also what the government can do to further encourage women to stay in the economy. The second is technology investment in healthcare, urbanization and water. The last is around energy. These are all the areas which can substantially improve the GDP and will not happen without both the investments of corporate but also the collaboration of government policies to make it so.

If we don't know where we are going then any road will take us! So, I feel politics is very important and I am so glad that at this point of time we have a stage or we have a place where all these things are being discussed. There are colleges who are teaching us what politics is and in all this, technology is making a huge impact. Any decision which the government is taking whether good, right or controversial, it's being discussed among us through twitter, through social media and it's all being done by youth! Why can't we be the change agent? Politics makes a lot of difference in our government system and it is we who have to change the entire system and we have to stand up and say that these are the few things which can be done better.

If youth are the agents of change, we have to empower them and they too have to be a part of this movement by entering politics. In Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad we learn many things from eminent people from different sectors. Most importantly, it teaches us to become responsible. It also empowers you by letting you have your say in devising policies of the government through the resolutions passed at the end of each session. We should give ourselves quality time by asking questions to ourselves and lay emphasis on your own learning methodology.

Whenever we talk of electoral reforms, we have to first decide on our objectives. Our final objective has to be how to ensure that the best leaders are elected. If one asks a voter how his representative should be, he lists out a number of virtues as his expectations. But when asked if actually puts these virtues to test when he goes to vote, against every candidate on the polling form, the answer is most likely in the negative. You cannot reform a system unless you are a part of it. The focus of electoral reforms has to be on sensitizing the voter. I believe that if the voters are educated, then they will definitely elect better representatives. Only then, I feel, will the objectives of electoral reforms be achieved.

“You cannot reform a system unless you are a part of it. The focus of electoral reforms has to be on sensitizing the voter.”

When the Constitution was amended in1988 to grant voting franchise to youth of 18 years and above, perhaps the foundation of change was laid then. I am sure that Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad will also prove to be an agent of change.

Our nation does not have a wall of separation between religion and state. In 2002, the Supreme Court held that the RTI is a fundamental right and for a voter to make an informed decision every candidate has to be submitting an affidavit declaring his family assets, educational background and most importantly his criminal background. The notion that politics is a dirty game is an unfortunate one. Politics may be a difficult game fraught with dangers but it does not have to be dirty. Let us be active participants in making the change that we want to see.

“So let us not be part of the ignorant generation which says that, ”nothing good can ever happen in India.”

Bhaumik J. Kamdar, Gujarat

For any democratic institution to remain vibrant and relevant, it is essential that its constitution is continuously reviewed and new ideas are incorporated, keeping in mind the changing global scenario. If we look back at world history we will realize that nations which became independent along with India, they have become victims of military dictatorship or family ruled dynasties. So what is it that we are still a democracy? The credit for this should go to the democratic mind-set of Indians and to our independent Election Commission. I believe that the present dispensation will take up the recommendations given by the present law commission in its 255th report.

The people who choose their representatives have no right to recall or reject the representatives if they are not competent to hold their post. Indian political system is deteriorating day by day due to the various reasons like misuse of office, corrupt officials and money power. The elections are the biggest source of corruption today. Let us not blame the politicians alone but also we the people of the country are responsible for it. It is our fundamental right to know the antecedent of each and every person

“ It is said that the filth of the society can only be cleaned by entering the cesspool of politics, but the sad truth is that some people, while doing this, don't clean their own filth, let alone that of the society.”

Tessa Toedema, Netherland

It is my experience that we as students are all capable to influence policy. In the Netherlands, I participate in political organizations for youth, where organized discussion evenings are held on topics such as employment education and equal rights. We also invite policy makers and scientists to come and talk to us about those topics. However our group felt that we wanted to take action and contribute to our society. Our group went to the streets to identify entrepreneurs. With this knowledge we started a social media project where we link the entrepreneurs to the young jobless adults and we are very successful.

“ It is my experience that we as students are all capable to influence policy.”

Sitaram Yechury

The people that you elect go on to become the political leaders. I did not enter politics after a long thought. I don't belong to a political family. I was involved in students' movement. Politics decides whether we even reach the colleges or not. Politicians decide how much grant to give a college and also what is the standard of food that can be served there. It is the government's economic and industrial policies which will decide whether we will get jobs or not. If all of these are decided by politics, then you must decide what your politics should be. We have one man, one vote. And each vote has one value. But we have not created a society where one man has the same value. If we do not remove this contradiction, this political structure itself will collapse. People elect representatives and these representatives make up the government. The government is answerable to parliament and the parliament is answerable to the people every five years. This is how sovereignty is established.

“ We have one man, one vote. And each vote has one value. But we have not created a society where one man has the same value. ”

What is happening in the legislatures today, be it the parliament, be it the state legislatures; are they really working as anticipated by our forefathers who drafted the constitution, the best constitution in the world, for us?

The 4 pillars that we thought will be serving us are not really serving us. Where lies the fault? It lies in the society in which you live. You have to change that state otherwise it will be difficult for you in the future days to live in this society. Build a society which boycotts the corrupt. Then alone you will get a good government otherwise you will not get a good government.

“ The fault lies in the society in which you live which respects only many and power, nothing else. You have to change that state otherwise it will be difficult for you in the future days to live in this society. ”

I am proud to be a member of New Zealand parliament and a citizen of New Zealand but I am also more proud to be of Indian origin. I was interested in politics. But I could not afford elections in my country. I shifted to New Zealand. Because I was interested in politics, I started attending public meetings of political parties there. I asked the Deputy of New Zealand, 'All over the world, new Zealand embassies invite us here. We are not refugees, we are immigrants and we have been invited to come to your country. After we come here, we bring in a lot of money, we bring in a lot of talent and we create jobs for the locals here and in return we are subjected to violent treatment. So how is it safe for us?' so I got into politics in New Zealand.

It is up to you guys and girls to strengthen the Indian democracy. The history of this country has already been written by Shivaji Maharaj, going right up to Bajirao Peshwe. Now it is up to you to write the future of our country. Long live Indian democracy. Jai Hind!!

I keep thinking about everyone asking you to join politics. You will all join politics, but you may not earn anything. Sometimes you might go hungry. Have you given a thought to that? At times, you will be assaulted physically. I am from Kerala and such things are common there. How will you live? Here is the importance of reforms, electoral, judicial as well as political. This is the situation. If it is your passion, then only follow politics. If your passion is to become a doctor or a farmer or do something else, you may follow that passion. If your passion is not related to politics, don't come and join politics.

There are 30 millions NRIs outside India. Many states are depending on money from these NRIs. But they do not have a right to vote. Nobody is talking about bringing in reforms for that. The definition of politics is, it is the best way to serve the society. So if you want to serve the society, it is not a job.

We at the universities as well at the Indian Council of Agricultural Research, we have started a program called ARYA - Attracting and Retaining Youth in Agriculture.

Yet another program we have launched is STUDENT READY - Rural Entrepreneurship on Agricultural Development Yojana. We produced only 51 million tons of food grains earlier, today we produce 268 million tons, four times more than the earlier, keeping pace with increase in the population.

I'm advocating that govt. of India must launch a pension scheme for farmers who are above 60 years of age, because the other people working in govt. fields get their pensions, salaries, and medical aids too. Though they are kept away from such facilities they carry on their coveted job of producing food for us. So why not try to give some medical aids and pension schemes to them?

In India, agriculture is not a profession. It is a religion, with farmer being its guardian. Water scarcity, power scarcity, floods, droughts, falling prices, shortage of seeds are some of the problems that are plaguing the farmers of today. Today we are self sufficient in food production and it is a proof that if the farmers are equipped well, they can do wonders. We will have to instill confidence in the farmers that we are with them. Only then will the number of farmer suicides reduce in the country.

Priyanshu Shukla, Madhya Pradesh

We can never stop farmers' suicides by providing income and food security. But we can try. The main reason for their suicides is because of liquid flow imbalance. The farmer is unable to utilize the money coming to him in a proper way and benefit from it. We have to think why, if half of the population is engaged in farming, it is contributing so little to the GDP? We need to have a rethink of our national policies. We have to reach a stage when a father should say with pride that his son would grow up to be a farmer.

Today India stands tall basking in the glory of a resurgent nation, with its head held high and its name being hailed in international scene. But, ladies and gentlemen, behind this success story, behind this glitz and glamour, we tend to hide our own truth about poverty, corruption and the 'Annadata' of this country killing himself every single night. Income and crop security can only be a temporary solution. Soil management, good quality seeds, better agriculture methods, this is what needs to be told, needs to be taught to the farmers.

“soil management, good quality seeds, better agriculture methods, this is what needs to be told, needs to be taught to the farmers.”

I was very glad when I came to Pune because many people asked me about Chennai floods. We fought back because of youth's involvement. The priceless compliment that we got from Indian army was that, “This is first time in entire nation we saw a disaster hit state have more number of volunteers than victims.” When we Youth can face a disaster and fight it back, why not politics?

A single student's suicide shakes the whole country. English news channels have their debates on “how, when and why it happened”. Are we so ignorant to miss out the big picture, a mass suicide that has been happening in our country for ages?

“This being the continuous fourth consecutive drought year, farmer's condition is worse than our imagination.”

Kalpana Parulekar

Politics is not dirty, the players in it are dirty. If you move away from politics and let anarchy rule, then blame yourself, because you have not done justice to your country. If you take recourse to law, then you can never lose in a public interest matter. We find that since independence, whichever party has assumed power, it has used farmers as vote banks. If we look at the farmers' insurance scheme, we find that whenever a farmer takes a loan from the society, his insurance premium is deducted. This happens twice in a year, without his knowledge. It is surprising that no one has tried to find out where this deducted amount has vanished. This has gone down the drain of corruption. It is very difficult for a farmer to get a Credit Card and even if he obtains it after a lot of difficulty, he does not get a loan against it.

In the last one year, 3500 farmers have committed suicide in Maharashtra, it is time to take this issue. The agriculture only comprises 14% of our GDP where the marginal farmers are reducing year by year. We need to think of reasons for farmers getting into debt like soil erosion, good quality seeds, marketing, less investment in crop storage facilities.

Young minds here, I like to remind you that all politicians aren't insensitive. We political parties promised to do our best for the welfare of farmers but in reality we are failing in reaching out to those farmers and farmers' families who are desperately committing suicides not getting enough help from the government or NGOs. I want to inspire young people to come back India and work towards the welfare of farmers.

It is sad that whichever be the government in power, there have been nearly 3 lakh farmers who have committed suicides in the last 20 years. I don't think that only the government is responsible for this. I think it is the mindset of the consumers, which is also responsible. We want everything that is produced at a cheap rate. We don't bargain on price when we buy cold drinks and other consumer products. It is only when we buy farm produce that we start bargaining.

Everyone involved in the process of picking up produce from the field and taking it to the market, earns money, except for the basic producer, i.e. the farmer. So unless and until we change the mindset that we should buy the farmers' produce at the right rate, things will not change. Through agriculture, the farmer is in a way combating global warming by converting carbon dioxide and carbon monoxide into carbohydrates.

Friends, the parliament is the most important institution in democracy. You youngsters who have assembled here from various parts of the country, who have participated in this BCS, are being a role model to others that how you should function. Agriculture is our basic culture. But unfortunately we are not giving the needed importance. Agriculture is becoming unremunerative. Nature is not helping us. Make the entire country as one food zone. That is the direction we should move in.

The farmers need knowledge, information, latest technologies, cheap affordable and timely credit, storage and much more.

In a study of about 3500 suicide cases, nobody with dairy or poultry background committed suicide. We must also diversify our efforts towards dairy and allied activities. We should also diversity crops and focus more on horticulture.

The crop losses are a major issue on account of flood drought etc. Farmers are losing their crops. They lose their hearts. They get frustrated and can't pay back the loan they have taken. That's why they take the extreme step of suicide.

It has revealed to me the wonders of our tradition, our culture, which is probably the most secular culture in the world. It is important for me to be able to think in my mind when I am on the stage about Lord Ganesha or think about Goddess Saraswati. These are important elements of my upbringing as an artist, as a musician, but at the same time I have also learned and memorized the words of the holy books of the world, my personal holy book with which I grew up with known as "The Quran Sharif". I am an Indian means I am a Muslim, Hindu, Christian, Buddhist, untouchable. I am everyone that lives in this country and only then can I call myself proudly an "Indian". Yes, globalization is a necessary evil but before I touch the topic, I would like to dwell on very briefly on India's economic condition during the pre-globalization period. India was probably one of the least preferred economies in the world at that time. Indian economy was after independence influenced by colonial experience which was seen by our leaders as exploitative. India adopted a socialistic inspired economic model with elements of capitalist economy. The dawn of 1990s saw the nation entering into a new phase of economic reforms. Globalization also involves the growth of multinational corporations and transactional corporations in which institutions like the IMF, the World Bank and WTO play an ever increasing and decisive role in the social and political and economic life of the people.

“Globalization for many people did not bring desired benefits. Many lost their jobs and their life became more insecure and uncertain.”

In recent times, Globalization is the most used, misused and abused word. Globalization is universalization, wherein the word globe is worldwide. Globalization is also a process that is taking place under national economy. Societies are being integrated for better trade & communication. We will not deny the fact that it is due to Globalization that Indian spices, fruits & skills have made a Global mark. It is due to Globalization that many jobless families of India have realized the dreams of a better tomorrow.

“We will not deny the fact that it is due to Globalization that Indian spices, fruits & skills have made a Global mark.”

Rosabel Marngar, Meghalaya

Asking, “is Globalization a necessary evil?” is as absurd as asking “is oxygen necessary for human beings?” The history of India best witnessed globalization with the coming of Aryans, Iranians, Greeks, Mughals and British. There are some disadvantages of globalization like brain drain, markets being flushed with foreign goods, hampering the local industries etc. But we live in an interdependent world.

“Asking, “is Globalization a necessary evil?” is as absurd as asking “is oxygen necessary for human beings?”

STUDENT LEADERS

Tanvi S Shah, Maharashtra

Globalization in simple words is nothing but the way in which countries and people of the world interact and integrate. There cannot be any progress unless the whole universe follows it in its wake, and it is becoming dearer every day, that solution to the problem cannot be attained if they are thought on racial, national or narrow grounds. Today, in the 21st century Globalization has increased exponentially due to technology and internet.

“We cannot ignore the impact that Globalization has in our lives. It is a necessary evil!”

Miranda Melis, Netherland

I feel so privileged to speak here and I am overwhelmed by your kindness here in India. Even we, as students can influence our government in their decision making. I think that we cannot unite only in our own countries but we can inspire each other all over the world with our ideas and visions. Globalisation is necessary and it is not necessarily an evil. In economic sense, globalisation means avoiding being insulated or isolated from the main stream.

We have 16% of the world's population and have 1% of world's land, and undoubtedly the most brilliant people in the world. With all that, what is our share in the world trade? Our share in the world trade is less than 1%. Just think about it, why should the countries with 99% of the share in the world trade come together and conspire against the country, which have the share of less than 1%? Please remember that India is one of the founder members of all international organisations including the IMF, the World Bank, and the WTO. If you see, we were the first country to say 'Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam' or world is one family. India's share in the total global production in the year 1 when the Gregorian calendar started, when Jesus Christ was born, was as large as 31.5%. India was an extremely globalised country for many centuries.

There is no way we can escape globalization. India has been a trading nation for over 3000 years. India has not just influenced market globalization, but also scientific and cultural globalization. So, globalization is easy for India and also for human beings in general. Globalization means nothing else but to go over to another place or person or bring that person to you. This happens for exchange of knowledge, for trade and even for progress. This is an integral part of anybody's personality. We need globalization, but on parity. The present form of globalization seems to be divided between developed and developing countries. This is an unequal relation. The influence of the west is so intense, that a day might come when our youth will not even remember our regional languages any more. So friends, you may learn engineering, technology, obtain the latest knowledge, but please don't let go of your identity of being an Indian. Please beware of cultural colonization. Prevent it and create your own identity.

“ There is no doubt that India will become an economic superpower. But I am doubtful if it will become a cultural superpower.”

Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad is an idea to bring national students together. It may branch out into more regional parliaments as it progresses. It will be held at metropolitan city levels, district levels, village levels, etc. Soon there will come a time, when no Prime Minister of this country can be chosen without the consent of the Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad. This is because there is a basic difference between the democracy of the politicians and the democracy of student leaders like you. In the politicians' democracy, they count only heads. But when BCS will emerge on the national scene, then heads will be counted along with minds, every person will earn his own place, there will be no inequality and there will be no politics of power, instead, there will be politics for the benefit of the motherland. We will grow only we think of ourselves as Indians and not as Hindus or Muslims.

“ When BCS will emerge on the national scene, then heads will be counted along with minds, every person will earn his own place, there will be no inequality and there will be no politics of power, instead, there will be politics for the benefit of the motherland.”

Prime Minister of Tibetan Government-in-Exile, Dharamshala, India on "Melting of glaciers in the Himalayas and security of India and Asia"

After Antarctica and Arctic, Tibetan Plateau and The Himalayas have about 46,000 glaciers or 1,05,000 square kilometers of ice. But the problem is, in the last 50 years, 50% of the glaciers on The Tibetan Plateau and The Himalayas have dried up, have melted and gone. They are the main source of fresh water for many of the major rivers of Asia. So, if we are not careful, if global warming continues and urbanization continues, depletion of resources continue, deforestation continue, we will face a severe crisis of water. Then the globalization will not only be an impediment, but will be the cause for lack of water all over the world, particularly in Asia and India. Because of globalization, the local cultures are disappearing, the local languages are disappearing. So now since globalization is necessary, but if you are not careful, it can have an impact on the world which will be far reaching and dire consequences for the whole world.

I have seen how New York has been a reigning force as far as industries go, capitalism goes, because they have no boundaries. In India we have a huge source of talent and that lies in our youth. We spoke about brain-drain but in a way it is an exchange of our ideas and to culminate our force globally. It is definitely strength for us to globalize in every way, our products, because E-marketing today is growing, online trade is growing and we have surpassing technology.

In 1991, when we faced the foreign exchange crisis, the New Economic policy came into being. Liberalisation, privatisation and Globalisation; those were a major turning point and after that we have never looked back. In India, Prosperity and globalisation have always gone together. Therefore, in order to remain prosperous, we have to have globalisation.

“ We spoke about brain-drain but in a way it is an exchange of our ideas and to culminate our force globally. ”

When we talk about globalization it has many connotations. When you look at the UN, it is a body of all nations which actually tries to solve the global problems. Why we think that UN must play a role into this? Because we realize that UN is a body of all the states and we need to think about the global issues.

Recently we came up with a new sustainable development goal only because the global community could come together and therefore I'm sure when we talk about globalization and using this terminology as a necessary evil, not everything is evil.

We should try to understand the importance of globalization and the importance of the global issues and work together to make it happen. I don't know any country in the world which could say globalization is welcome. Any country in the world which is exporting will be happy with globalization because it opens up markets for that country in other places. China benefitted from globalization, leaving all other countries at the receiving end because China exported cheap goods, China exported goods in a big quantity. So everywhere we see there are winners. But has the global community on a whole benefitted?

I think we should find out how we could benefit from this process of globalization particularly in terms of exporting more in the other countries and the only way we can do that is by investing hugely into research and development, try to make your country very competitive, try to improve your rating of ease of doing business, try to make sure the efficiency of operations is good. But most importantly no country can be a winner if you are not productive. So the best way to face this challenge of globalization, is in my opinion how do you make sure you become competitive, productive and get a comparative advantage over the other countries.

“ I don't know any country in the world which could say globalization is welcome. But any country in the world which is exporting will be happy with globalization because it opens up markets for that country in other places.”

The globalization is undeniable and we cannot go let it go. We cannot just say that we cannot be a part of globalization. We have to be a part of it. We have to strengthen it.

We have all type of resources available at Bastar. But the problem is we cannot expose it because of the internal security problems which we are facing.

I would like to take two big examples, one is question of environment. If there is a problem in our environment we see the change or we see the effects. In some other countries if there some change in environment we see the changes in our environment. The same happen with the culture. When the western culture comes to our country or any country, they dominate their own culture in the other state.

“We cannot just say that we cannot be a part of globalization. We have to be a part of it.”

OPENING REMARKS

V. M. Muthukumar

Vice Chancellor, Bharathidasan University, Tiruchirappalli, Tamilnadu

Our country has been making many advances particularly in the field of technology. On the other hand, amongst the developed countries, India is still lagging behind in Nobel, Oscars and Olympics. India has a huge human resource. If people with extraordinary talent are justly identified and utilized without any discrimination, this goal can also be achieved. We cannot deny that more than 1000 films are made in India each year, many of them quite excellent. Yet we need to make more strenuous efforts to achieve greater success at the Oscars. Similar is the case with Olympics, with so few medals won by India. I hope that the politicians refrain from involving themselves in sports matters like selection of teams etc for real talent to surface.

I would like to pay my tributes to the memory of the Father of the Nation Mahatma Gandhi on his 68th Death Anniversary today. Politics has been maligned as a bad area to work in, but I urge the students to take up politics as a career and make a mark in it.

Every day people ask why there aren't enough Indian winners in Nobel, Oscar and Olympics. Intentionally or unintentionally, we are crushed by superstition and false fear in our mind and our curiosity dies down. Perhaps we forgot that curiosity is the origin of all discoveries and inventions and excellence can only be achieved by mastery of fundamentals. To quote Dr. Kalam, “You have to dream before your dream can come true. Dream, dream and dream, as dream transform into thoughts, thoughts into action and action into achievement.”

“Intentionally or unintentionally, we are crushed by superstition and false fear in our mind and our curiosity dies down.”

Om Prakash Dwivedi, Madhya Pradesh

Why are we unable to reach excellence in a country with a population of 1.27 billion and why a nation like United Kingdom has 84 medals and we just 28? The problem is nurturing of talent in India. Parents want the kids just to earn money, paisa. Now Indians are generally known for 'hard work' but somehow in India, the reward for hard work is so hard to come that at times it makes no sense to work hard. The government has formulated a TOP scheme Target Olympics Podiums, where selected athletes are being provided financial assistance for customized training at institute having world class facilities

“Somehow in India, the reward for hard work is so hard to come that at times it makes no sense to work hard.”

India is a land of potential. Every child in India has the potential to be absolutely best at what they do. We must ensure that they get to choose their own future and be at their creative best. The state must make sure that there is adequate infrastructure for the fulfilment of every single dream. No aspirants should be left behind for the lack of financial funds.

“The state must make sure that there is adequate infrastructure for the fulfilment of every single dream.”

Anagha Nandane, Maharashtra

It is my observation that many times we don't send some of our best films to the Oscars. Some of the national award winning films don't get theatres. Our Olympic hopefuls don't get proper facilities to train. There is rampant politics and corruption in sports. I feel that there should not be politics in sports, but there should be sportsmanship in politics. Similarly, our country does not encourage research, which I feel should be encouraged even at school level.

Today's youth is disturbed that they cannot reach their targets. But the problem is that they do not have any targets in the first place. We should not leave this parliament unless we decide on a goal for ourselves. All of us have the same amount of will. It is only that the person who takes one step further that he becomes extraordinary. I did nothing extraordinary. I just focused on my goal and kept on with it till I reached it. After my accident in 2011, my leg was amputated. I converted my biggest weakness to my strength. I want you all to make one promise. If you find someone in your neighbourhood who is in a similar situation as I, don't ignore him. Give him a boost, provide him with a platform.

I came here to inspire you and after listening to all of you, I am standing here inspired. I stand here with absolute faith about the future of India and hence the future of world is secure, absolutely secure. Spiritualism is with us for centuries. Science is a new entrant. Taking care of science is wearing us out. We are now seeking spirituality again.

I really believe we all are at a very beautiful point of human evolution, where you from the young generation will let spirituality take care of you and you will take care of science. Whatever you want to achieve in life, you have to only through this vehicle called body. If you don't take care of this body, you are not going to achieve anything. To improve quality of mind, you have to improve quality of your thoughts, to improve quality of your thoughts, you have to improve quality of your vocabulary. Without improving quality of words we cannot improve quality of thinking, without improving quality thinking you cannot improve quality of life. Just give a few minutes every day to your silence and trust me, the power of doing will be derived with the power of non-doing. In essence, get yourself right and manifestation of getting yourself right will be a new world which will be built by you.

“To improve quality of mind, you have to improve quality of your thoughts and to improve quality of your thoughts, you have to improve quality of your vocabulary.”

SUMMING UP OF BHARATIYA CHHATRA SANSAD BY

Rahul V. Karad

Founder Convener,
Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad

I am overwhelmed with the kind of participation you all have shown. The concept of MIT School of Government began 10 years ago as the first school in the country providing training for a career in politics. It kept on evolving till the year 2011, when BCS was first held. I would like to specially congratulate all of you for your undivided attention over these four days and the decency, dignity and decorum with which you have conducted yourself. We have created a network of around 4000 MLAs across the country where all of you can get connected with them. It is our dream to connect to the youth throughout the country by making use of information technology and encourage them to be proactive in strengthening the democracy of the country through politics. Through the Youth to Youth connect app, we have ensured that the participants of this parliament will be in touch with each other throughout the year and we on our part will enlighten them on various issues from the grassroots level.

I urge you to stop thinking negatively about politics. We all should write the new chapters of politics in our country. We should relieve politics of the old and stodgy, instead, young arms made of steel should take charge. Our Constitution makers had dreamt of a nation standing on principals of equality and social justice. It is incumbent upon us to fulfil this dream. We have to let go of our inhibitions and be a part of politics that govern our country.

“Our Constitution makers had dreamt of a nation standing on principals of equality and social justice. It is incumbent upon us to fulfil this dream.”

Akhilesh Sharma, Madhya Pradesh

It seems the voice of the youth is being suppressed by the system. Politics is an opportunity to improve self and the society. So why are we backing away from it? And why do we only want to become MLAs or MPS in politics and deliver long speeches? We see many examples of leaders who are serving the society without getting any of these posts. The country needs you to join politics and serve it to maintain the integrity and sanctity of the nation.

Friends I am here to express my few words of gratitude and gratefulness to all of you for the spirit which has been exhibited through this Sixth parliament of Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad, Indian Students Parliament. The beauty is the decency, decorum, dignity and the discipline shown by you for the last four days is something very unique. Being a teacher, I have seen and heard the speeches delivered by the student representatives. The sense of pride and pleasure which you possess when you speak at this young age gives a new vision to our Mother India. Remember friends, we are here to help you build up your winning personality. You should be physically fit, mentally alert, intellectually sharp and spiritually elevated. This is the message of India to all of you. Keep up the spirit of Mother India.

If I have achieved anything in life, I have become something, I can confidently say to you all that if I can do it, you can do it better than me. I left my residence in Bihar and came to Pune for the first time and stayed in a hostel. I came to Pune with a lot of devotion, decency, discipline and determination. No one thought I would ever be a film star. But slowly but surely, I made a mark, without any connections, without any influence, all on my own. Similarly, even in politics, I have no godfather, no relative, no friend who can influence others. I am the first person from films who became a full-fledged cabinet minister in the Union Ministry. Two things are important. First is dedication or commitment and the second is inner preparedness. One has to listen to a lot before entering politics. I came to politics influenced by Jay Prakash Narayan and as a means to discharge my social commitments. If you decide, you can turn impossible to possible.

I don't see a students' parliament over here, but a people's parliament. On this day of Mahatma Gandhi's Death Anniversary, we must acknowledge that he visualized this nation without any boundaries of caste, creed, religion, faith and gender. The resources like water, land, etc. on which development should be modelled, are being depleted. What are the ground realities of this nation? Many children are deprived from proper education even today. Nearly 93% of labourers do not have facilities like pension, insurance and social security. If you have to come to politics, you will have to take cognizance of these issues. I would like to ask you, how many of you are willing to let go of party politics and enter the politics of people's movements. Wealth should not be concentrated in the hands of the few. We don't have a shortage of good officers in governments but the corrupt political interference does not allow them to perform. I urge you to dedicate at least one year of your careers to any one public interest movement of your choice.

Young friends, if you are having a vision and if you focus on that vision, everything is possible. Andhra Pradesh is having all disadvantages. We don't have capital, we don't have revenue, we are having deficit revenue and also we don't have education institutions, we don't have industries, we concentrate only Hyderabad. Now I am thinking how to convert problem into opportunity. There is a crisis. Today I have prepared Vision Document that by 2022, we want to be one among three best states in India, by 2029 we want to be the best state in India and by 2050 we want to be the best destination in the world itself.

If you think out of the box, you will get ideas and you can do wonders. I am very happy students, good leaders are here. Your future depends upon you. Leaders are not prepared in a class room. All of you should know what your place is. What is your contribution for the society for this great nation? With this, I am thanking all of you.

“Young friends, if you are having a vision and if you focus on that vision, everything is possible.”

Ramraje Naik-Nimbalkar
Chairman, Maharashtra Legislative Council

One thing really worries me, is the growing urban and rural divide. Maybe planning was perfect but implementation was wrong. Whatever it may be, it is not only financially, it is educationally, it is in health, it is in communication, it is in roads... You name any sector of development, you will find this divide. Urbanization is happening in many states. In Karnataka we have equal rate of urbanization. The fact remains if we start growing cities where are we going to get infrastructure? The population growth, population density decides the number of parliamentary and legislative seats. In the golden triangle of Nasik, Pune and Mumbai, there are about 100 MLAs out of 288 MLAs. Then what happens to the rural areas where the population is weaker, financially poor and that is the reason I asked you, how many of you are from rural areas. Young friends I wish you luck. Thank you very much for this opportunity.

“You should become great with heart, with sensitivity. If that remains with you then only will I say that you are a successful politician.”

RAHUL V. KARAD BEING CONGRATULATED BY THE YOUTH LEADERS

The valedictory session was marked with lot of zeal and excitement among the youth. They rushed to congratulate and thank Rahul V. Karad, the man behind the innovative concept of Indian Student Parliament (Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad). While the group of students swelled and encircled Rahul V. Karad, he interacted with all of them very patiently and consented to have photos with them and sign autographs.

He passionately explained to the youngsters about the significance of the large scale participation of youths in the Student Parliament.

He urged them to work sincerely and unconditionally for strengthening democracy and developing the nation. He was visibly moved and acknowledged their appreciation when he was being felicitated by all the student leaders followed by a standing ovation from the audience.

Mohan Bhagwat for Ram temple in Ayodhya

ST Correspondent
apn@indianstudentparliament.com

Pune: Raising the Ram temple issue in "Dharma Dharma Dharma" through RSS-UPA Chief Mohan Bhagwat requested that the temple should come up in Ayodhya as Lord Ram is not dead in Hindu culture.

INDIAN STUDENT PARLIAMENT

Bhagwat was in the city to attend the Indian Student Parliament organised by the Maharashtra Institute of Technology (MITI). After the speech, Bhagwat replied to the queries raised by students on Ram temple, reservation, violence and intolerance.

One of the students asked the RSS chief whether the government should printing their daily bread and butter if the Ram temple came up in Ayodhya. "How can you eat from the pot when it has not yet been constructed," Bhagwat retorted.

Bhagwat said that solar reservation policy should continue till there is no social discrimination in the country. When asked about politics, Bhagwat, religion, he said, "This should be asked of those who do it. This question is not for me. We should practice what we preach and embrace the grief," he said.

Bhagwat said culture is the soul of Indian Constitution, which has the provision for effecting necessary changes in it to suit the changing times.

DISTRIBUTION OF PARTICIPATION CERTIFICATES TO STUDENT LEADERS

ABOUT MIT SCHOOL OF GOVERNMENT

Bringing youth representation in the mainstream of political and social democracy and to impart practical leadership training to prepare them for the future leadership was the commitment behind establishing a unique School, the MAEER's MIT School of Government, Pune, (MIT-SOG) which is the 1st institute of its kind, not only in India but also in Asia.

MIT-SOG is imparting One Year Full Time - Masters Program in Government (MPG), a professional program for developing democratic leadership and for a career in Politics and Government. It was felt that youth aspiring to make careers in myriad fields of politics should have a formal training center where they would not only get rudimentary knowledge about various aspects of "Government" and "Governance," but would also learn to become tomorrow's leaders committed to respect and strengthen democracy and democratic values.

The program is a combination of theory, case studies and wide practical exposure through focused activities like local field visits, national & international study tours. During the last 11 years since its inception, a number of political, business and community leaders from India, political delegations from abroad and dignitaries from foreign diplomatic missions have been interacting with students on a wide range of topics and have been sharing their insights about values of ethical, political, legislative processes in a plural and democratic society.

MIT-SOG is a part of MAEER's Maharashtra Institute of Technology (MIT Pune) Pune, India, which was established in 1983 by Prof. Dr. Vishwanath D. Karad, has 68 institutions catering to graduate and post-graduate studies which offer higher learning to about 55000 students in wide array of fields – Engineering, Medicine, Marine Engineering, Design, IT, Business Management, and Journalism, among others. In addition to imparting cognitive education, we seek to imbibe among our students respect for Democracy, Human Rights, Tolerance and Peace through UNESCO-conferred Chair at World Peace Centre in the campus. Under the same UNESCO Chair, we are running MIT-SOG, which also signed a Memorandum of Understanding with the renowned Tata Institute of Social Sciences, Mumbai for academic partnership.

Vishwanath D. Karad and Rahul V. Karad, the moving force and initiators of MIT School of Government, the first school in India & Asia for a career in politics.

INSPIRING YOUTH, STRENGTHENING DEMOCRACY

THE PATHWAY TO SENSITIZE THE YOUTH FOR POLITICAL PARTICIPATION

It is in the interest of the country that all Legislative Assemblies in association / support with Parliament of India, Union Ministry of Parliamentary Affairs & Union Ministry of Human Resource Development (HRD) should come forward and establish - Indian Institutes of Leadership on the lines of IIMs and IITs in the country. This will help in creating strong, sensitive and dedicated leaders for the country.
