The happiness of the leader lies in the happiness of his people, his welfare in their welfare. He will only consider those things desirable which are liked by his people and not which he likes individually.

- Arya Chanakya

BCS is a mission. It is a journey, initiated by MIT School of Government. Over the last decade we have been endeavouring to motivate youth to uplift the existing image of Indian politics, by bringing in cleaner, better informed and healthier practices into the system. It is indeed gratifying to see that our efforts have borne fruit and several of our alumni are working both at the grassroots and higher levels of politics in India and remain committed to the cause of creating a better India!

IMPORTANT NOTE

Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad is an apolitical platform on which student leaders from all ideologies - political, religious, sectarian, or otherwise - assemble to voice their opinions. The effort is to sensitize the youth about the ideals of democracy by exposing them to varied views and opinions. The objective is also to sensitize them towards political processes to bring them into the political mainstream. BCS aims to provide feedback to the government to help it formulate policies for the youth and other sectors, by ascertaining the pulse of the people through the medium of youth. Thus, BCS is the perfect reflection of democracy in full function, irrespective of political, religious, sectarian, or any other ideologies.

MIT School of Government, (MIT-SOG) Pune, was founded in 2005. It is the first of its kind to be set up in not only India but also Asia that imparts leadership training to the educated youth of India desirous of making a career in Politics and Government. During the last 19 years of successful operations, we having trained hundreds of youth are proud to see many of our alumni holding important positions in public life. When we at MIT-SOG grow from strength to strength, we know that our political system too benefits, by getting an excellent pool of talent drawn from the youth.

We expanded the canvas of MIT School of Government in 2011, by creating a separate platform titled as Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad (BCS) and bringing out classroom training to the thousands of youth through the unique platform. BCS represents an apolitical, non-partisan and independent platform. Through its annual national conclave, the platform is transforming the outlook of thousands of youth and reaffirming their respect for politics, political leaders, democracy, and its institutions.

VISION

To create the most ethical, spirited, and competent public leadership in the country, which will shape our policies, make our democracy vibrant, and bridge the chasm between the way we are being governed today and the way we want to be governed.

MISSION

To initiate the spirit of student politics in the youth of today and inculcate public-spirited and socially sensitive values right during their formative years. We aim to raise the extent of sensitivity, awareness, involvement, responsiveness, access, and say of youth in political and democratic processes so that a healthy democratic system is evolved. Such a system will then produce competent public leaders and policymakers, from the grassroots and all walks of life.

OUR INSPIRATION & BLESSINGS

Prof. Dr. Vishwanath D. Karad

Founder & Chief Patron, MAEER's MIT, Pune
President, MIT World Peace University
Executive President, BCS

I am elated today to see Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad celebrate its 13th milestone year. The Great Noble Son of India Swami Vivekananda had said "Union of Science and Spirituality alone will bring peace to mankind," and today my belief in these words has only grown stronger. All the student leaders who had assembled at the 13th milestone year of Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad from across the nation are partaking in your Rashtira Dharma, as you are the initiators of new-age India. You gathered to gain knowledge from the leaders and that shows your commitment to your country. You must have taken inspiration from these leaders and philosophers and subsequently, you must spread this by motivating and encouraging your peers whom you will interact with later. Only then will your journey in the 13th Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad prove to be successful.

When our country Mother India celebrated the diamond jubilee Independence Day, I was only reminded of my duty, and the duty of BCS, and men who have great concern for making this country very unique country in this world. Perform your duty; duty towards mother, father and the family, the society, the nation, and the whole world - Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam. You are the hope and faith of thousands of Indians and it is you who will bring clean politics to India. From this moment onwards we have to create a new image for India that we hope to see in the future. Through our continued and dedicated efforts, we have to ensure that our country India emerges as a knowledge corridor of the world - Vishva Guru. I appeal to you to keep this word.

Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad (Indian Student Parliament) - A Seed Thought

“The time is more relevant than ever for the educated youth to come forward to shoulder the responsibility of leadership in public life. Unfortunately, the majority of them still shy away from politics. We remain committed to change the picture.”

Rahul V. Karad

Founder Convener, Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad (Indian Student Parliament)

The 13th Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad has been a testament to the immense potential and confidence of India's youth. Witnessing student leaders from diverse corners of the nation actively engaging in this conclave over three days reinforces our belief in the youth's dedication to enhance their faith, knowledge, and leadership skills. This concerted effort to prepare for future leadership roles and public life is unprecedented in India's history.

When we initiated the concept of the School of Government, aimed at training future political leaders, skepticism abounded. However, today, after 19 years of relentless endeavor, the MIT School of Government (MIT-SOG) stands as a beacon of success. MIT-SOG offers a unique Master's Program in Political Leadership and Government, empowering educated youth with professional training to make a societal impact through politics.

The journey of MIT-SOG and Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad (BCS) has been instrumental in nurturing a national asset - the youth movement. BCS, launched in 2011, has democratized opportunities for thousands of young minds. It has evolved into a platform connecting students, teachers, and leaders from various sectors, facilitating dialogue, and fostering leadership development.

The impact of BCS extends beyond its annual gatherings. It has catalyzed the establishment of other significant initiatives, including the National Legislators' Conference, National Women's Parliament, National Teachers' Congress, and Festival on Democracy. These events have attracted participation from diverse stakeholders, amplifying the discourse on governance, education, and democracy.

Over the past 13 years, Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad hosted eminent personalities from politics, academia, and spirituality, inspiring young leaders nationwide. Their insights have ignited a ripple effect, empowering youth to drive positive change in their respective regions.

While Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad has garnered recognition globally as an exceptional model for youth engagement, we acknowledge that our journey is far from over. There are still miles to traverse, challenges to overcome, and aspirations to fulfill. Yet, with unwavering dedication and collective effort, we remain committed to advancing the cause of democratic leadership and societal transformation.

As we reflect on our achievements, let us renew our resolve to continue nurturing the spirit of democracy, dialogue, and ethical leadership. Together, let us embark on the journey ahead, confidence in our ability to shape a brighter future for India and the world.

Thank you.

OUR INSPIRATION & BLESSINGS

We are proudly witnessing the great strides made by the Indian youth in several spheres of activities. But the youth has been shying away from socio-political responsibilities today. The challenge is to get the youth involved in building the future India, which is their India, which will script their future. In this context, I consider the success of the Indian Student Parliament (Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad) as an important milestone in today's socio-political environment of India. Indeed, the MIT School of Government has done remarkably well by drawing an overwhelming response from the student community by holding the first-ever Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad in Pune. The event drew a wide appreciation from the Indian youth. Further, this brought the youth, the decision-makers, eminent members of civil society, corporate leaders, and senior political leaders on one common platform. I would like to applaud the bold, dynamic, and visionary leadership of Rahul Karad. From concept to execution, he leads from the front. I must also appreciate the commitment of the Government of Maharashtra, as shown by its genuine support of the idea as well as the event. I am confident that if we mobilize student leaders all over the country, instill confidence in them, and create a social awakening, then India will be on the move to occupy a top seat at the table in the Comity of Nations as the 21st century unfolds. I extend my heartiest greetings for the successful conduct of the 13th Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad.

Dr. R. A. Mashelkar

Eminent Scientist, National Research Professor,
Chairman, Governing Council,
MIT School of Government, Pune

During our freedom struggle the idea of 'Nai Talim' was contemplated by Mahatma Gandhi and his close associates. The purpose was to integrate academic learning with the external environment. At a higher level, the scheme stimulated students' awareness about the surrounding issues and empathy and initiated their preparation for social commitment. The concept could not gain enough ground, but its relevance remains everlasting. Especially in today's times, when the educational system has become so career-oriented, compartmentalizing society and rendering individuals as isolated units in themselves. Instead of bringing people together, it has created walls and distances among them. Consequently, there is apathy among the students about the serious issues in society and a lack of concern for the marginalized population. This self-centric education can't create leaders and activists. This state of affairs needs major churning. Fortunately, the initiative by MIT School of Government to organize the Indian Student Parliament deserves appreciation. It will help percolate the social bonds and commitment and inspire students to action. Its motto 'Inspiring Youth for Strengthening Democracy' is greatly symbolic in the sense that the time has come for the action of youth. I extend all my wishes for its success.

She is the iconic figure of Myanmar's historic fight for democracy against the military junta that ruled the country for many years. She had addressed the Indian Students Parliament on video during its third edition.

IN QUEST OF DEMOCRACY...

"Parliament is about discussion and debate. Through discussion and debate conflicts can be resolved without violence"

"Parliament is about discussion and debate. Through discussion and debate conflicts can be resolved without violence"

For over two decades, Ms Suu Kyi underwent numerous hardships. In honour of her dedicated and devoted quest for peace and democracy, she was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1991. She has also been conferred with the Sakharov Prize for Freedom of Thought in 1990 and Jawarharlal Nehru Award for International Understanding in 1992, among other international recognitions.

Ms Suu Kyi addressed the gathering of 3rd Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad on 10th January 2013. Given below is an extract of her message.

"Parliament is about discussion and debate. Through discussion and debate conflicts can be resolved without violence. Some violence seems to have taken place in some parliaments but one would say these are aberrations rather than staunch conflicts. These can arise from singularity as well as from differences.

Please use this opportunity for discussion and debate to find out how you can make enduring values lost and how you find more values that will give hope to all of us who are living in the world that aims out to reach out to us from day to day."

Malala Yousufzai is the icon of the young world, particularly for the girls promoting the cause of women's education even while living in a very hostile environment and after having almost lost her life for the cause. Her speech was showcased during the inaugural session of the 4th Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad.

"Thank you so much for inviting me, I am really sorry that I am not there, but it's a great opportunity to talk to Youth, the new generation. It is very important that the youth takes part in politics because the youth is the one who is going to be the future of tomorrow and for the country's prosperity and development, so it is necessary to be in politics.

I want to be in politics because I think it is the better way to work for education, work for the women's rights and for the development of my country. I truly and truly support all of you that join politics and work in politics because you are working for your country, for the people living in your country and your role is also important."

Thank you so much.

METHODOLOGY ADOPTED FOR BHARATIYA CHHATRA SANSAD

Conduct of Session:

Academic Sessions are based on various themes which reflect the important issues facing India/World currently. Four student leaders express their views on the given topic before any other speaker so that they are not influenced, pressured, or burdened by the views of the other speakers. The Speakers of state assemblies speak next for 10 minutes. Adarsh Yuva Vidhayak Samman (Ideal Young MLA Honor) is given to two young MLAs. This is followed by speeches by Eminent Speakers who speak for 20 minutes each, followed by Q & A session. The Resolutions are put to voting towards the end of the session. This is the general methodology followed for all 6 sessions while allowing for last-minute alterations as per the demands of the situation.

Bell of Democracy:

This is a bell made of brass mounted on a steel stand. The ringing of this bell symbolically reaffirms our faith in the continuance and strengthening of democracy in the country. It is rung during the Inaugural, Valedictory, and Academic Sessions by the dignitaries on the dais.

Assembly Speakers:

The Speakers of all Legislative Assemblies of India are intimated about the conduct of the Conclave well in advance. Invitations are sent to select Speakers to be the Chairpersons of the sessions. Usually, the Speakers of assemblies not represented in the earlier editions of BCS are invited to occupy the Chair.

Felicitation:

Felicitation of guests is a deep-rooted Indian tradition. At BCS, we have imbibed this tradition as a mark of respect for every contribution of every individual. The eminent speakers and other dignitaries along with student speakers are felicitated with a shawl and a memento.

Student Speakers:

A fair selection methodology is adopted while selecting the students who speak as representatives of the students during each session. A selection panel is formed comprising of faculty and other experts, who review the VCDs/DVDs received from those registered students who wish to speak on the given topic. The criteria adopted for selection are the relevance of the topic, content of speech, body language, confidence level, etc. Based on this, the shortlisted students have to perform before the selection panel before the start of the Conclave. 4 to 6 students who excel in the above-mentioned criteria are finally selected to speak during each session.

Aadarsh Mukhyamantri Puraskar (Ideal Chief Minister Award):

The Aadarsh Mukhyamantri Puraskar is conferred upon an outstanding Chief Minister of an Indian state for his/her pathbreaking work in the development of his/her respective state and for the greater good of society at large.

Ideal Legislative Assembly Speaker / Ideal Legislative Council Chairman Award:

This award is conferred upon The Speaker / Chairman of the State Legislative Assembly or Legislative Council in recognition of his/her outstanding work in conducting proceedings of State Legislative Assembly / Council & for Promoting the Best Legislative Practices in the State.

Aadarsh Yuva Vidhayak Samman (Ideal Young MLA):

The practice of awarding the Aadarsh Yuva Vidhayak was started during the 3rd Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad. In each session, one or two young MLAs are felicitated for following sound democratic and parliamentary practices in their constituency.

Uchcha Shikshit Aadarsh Yuva Sarpanch Samman (Highly Educated Ideal Youth Sarpanch Award):

This award is given to a highly educated young sarpanch of a village, who despite being highly educated prefers to serve his/her village.

Main Speakers/Eminent Speakers:

Very eminent personalities from various fields like Politics, Media, Entertainment, Judiciary, Corporate, Bureaucracy, etc are invited as Main Speakers or Keynote Speakers for each session. At times, more than one Main Speaker is invited depending on the subject of discussion and the availability of the eminent personality.

Q & A Session:

Participating Students send in their questions in a printed format to the volunteers allotted for each seating block. The volunteer collects these questions and sends them to the selection committee present near the dais. The committee examines the relevance of the questions and selects an optimum number of questions depending upon the time available, but usually not less than 4. As the Q&A session starts, each selected student's name is announced who then goes to a podium kept beside each block and asks the question to the eminent speaker of the session.

Best Student Speaker Award:

Five students from among all the student speakers who have performed outstandingly during the sessions are selected for this award. The selection is done by an ad hoc panel consisting of office-bearers of the Bharatiya Chhatra/Yuva Sansad Foundation convened for this period.

Ekta Sutra:

Ekta Sutra is the Bond of Unity, which signifies the coming together of all the student and youth leaders of India in a show of solidarity and oneness for nation-building. All the participants and personalities on the dais tie short pieces of string together to form a long, unbroken chain of unity, reaffirming their faith in the unity and integrity of India. This ceremony takes place at the end of the Valedictory Session, signifying the end of the conclave.

Release of Balloons:

Tri-coloured balloons are released in the sky at the hands of the invited dignitaries before the Inaugural Session commences. This act symbolically signifies to the entire country that an important event is about to take place for the strengthening of democracy in India.

Oath:

An oath is administered to the participants, in which they reaffirm their faith in the unity of India and pledge to work diligently to strengthen the democracy of the country. It is usually (but not necessarily) administered by a spiritual leader who is invited as an Eminent Speaker for one of the academic sessions.

Resolutions:

At the end of each session, a relevant resolution on the topic discussed is proposed, which is sent to the various decision-making authorities if passed by a majority of the participants. The voting options are 'Agree' or 'Disagree' / 'Yes' or 'No'. It is displayed on the screen in the auditorium and the participants vote by using the QR Code displayed in the Screen by using their mobile.

When I see all of you in front of me, the future of India is safe in your hands - I am quite confident about the same. I request all of you to do hard work, believe in what you understand, try to practice it and then you will definitely become a good leader. One day, the world, the country and the community around you will definitely recognize you. This is what life has taught me. The ballot is more powerful than the bullet. If you defeat somebody by bullet, he will die, but the ideology will remain. If you defeat somebody by ballot, then there will be a rethinking of that ideology.

THEN CHIEF MINISTER OF MAHARASHTRA

Mumbai 400 03220th January 2019MESSAGE

It is indeed commendable that Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad, Pune, has emerged as a national platform for the youth of India since it was incepted in 2011. As the Chief Patron of this purposeful platform, it is heartening to witness the plant of Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad, Pune, turning into a banyan tree in its 9th year. I wanted to address the young minds today personally but some other occupancy has prevented me from taking this opportunity.

It is not very common that thousands of youth from different corners of India traveling across to actively participate at a meaningful platform like Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad. This is a good sign for our democracy and this is what was envisioned by our leaders and the Government to integrate maximum number of youth in the process of nation building.

For India to emerge as a politically astute and democratically secure country, it is imperative that its policy makers are well informed and clued up about the past, present and future requirements. It is indeed a great satisfaction that Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad provides opportunity to the university students to speak their thoughts and voice their opinion about the political happenings in the country and the required changes. Also, as they interact with those who are already a part of the political system they stand to gain the perspective, which will benefit them and the country in the long term.

I am sure that with its focused efforts Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad will continue to channelize the energy of the youth in the right direction and will encourage them to take active part in politics and enter public life.

I am confident that Shri. Rahul V. Karad, the Founder of this platform, will continue to exhibit similar determination and conviction in his nation building activities.

I extend my warm wishes to the Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad and all the young students participating in the 3 day of engaging discourse.

MESSAGE

It gives me immense pleasure to learn that the 13th Annual National Conclave of Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad, with the theme, 'Inspiring Youth: Strengthening Democracy' is being organised from 10th to 12th January 2024 at MIT World Peace University, Pune. I hope that the 3-day Student Parliament will motivate the student participants to be partners in the social development of our Motherland Bharat and will help in channelizing the youthful energy of the students towards Nation Building.

Today's students are tomorrow's leaders. They are the future of the Nation and have a crucial role to play as Catalyst in the progress and development of the society, State and the Nation. They have a great responsibility to lead with compassion, pride and rootedness in Bharat and its rich diverse and ancient and modern culture, knowledge system and traditions. The youth of the day must imbibe the spirit of 'Nation First' and create a new work culture that would adhere to values, ethics and morals to deal with elements which display fissiparous tendencies, radical attitude and negative vibes. Their efforts need to be focussed on deep rooted pride in being Indian, in thoughts, spirit, intellectual and deeds and develop knowledge skills, values and disposition that supports responsible commitment to human rights, national wellbeing and collective collaboration.

The Viksit Bharat has been envisaged by the present apex leadership but it is the youth of the day, who have to carry forward the initiative in Amrit Kaal period, to realise the developed and prosperous Viksit Bharat@2047. I am sanguine that our students are on the correct path and preparing themselves to be valued and responsible citizens of the country.

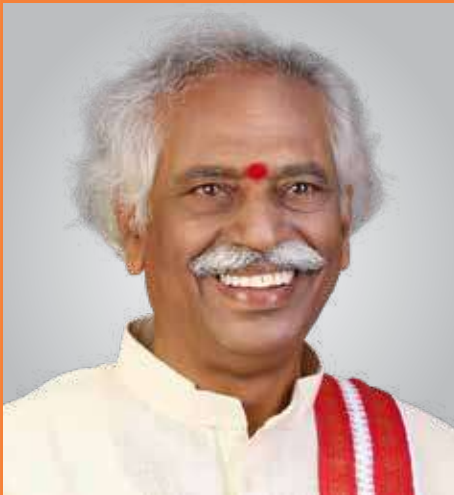

On behalf of the people of Arunachal Pradesh, particularly the students, I extend my warm greetings to all the participants. I also commend MIT School of Government and convey my best wishes for their future endeavours.

राज्यपाल, हरियाणा

29th December, 2023

I am happy to learn that the 13th Annual National Conclave of Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad will be held from 10th to 12th January, 2024, a first of its kind initiative to channelize the energy of youth for strengthening democracy, at MIT World Peace University, Pune, in which students from across the world take part.

I appreciate the dedication of Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad in igniting the spirit of healthy politics in the youth of today and inculcating public spirited and socially sensitive values right during their formative years. Doing so is all the more important in present times with the engagement of a considerable number of youth in various movements and democratic processes in recent years.

I personally feel that our youth have a great role to play in building an inclusive and Viksit Bharat. They represent the driving force behind social and economic change and possess the energy, enthusiasm and innovative thinking necessary to break down barriers and foster inclusivity. Their active engagement in promoting equality, understanding and acceptance of diversity can contribute significantly to the creation of a more inclusive society.

I appreciate the initiatives taken by MIT School of Government, founded by Rahul V. Karad, for starting this innovative platform of Bhartiya Chhatra Sansad.

By embracing diverse perspectives, advocating for equal opportunities and challenging discriminatory practices, the youth can play a pivotal role in dismantling social prejudices and fostering a sense of unity. Youth's involvement in civic activities, education and community development initiatives can contribute to the overall progress and well-being of the nation.

Best wishes!

It gives me immense happiness to know that Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad and MIT School are jointly organizing 13th annual national conclave of Indian Students' Parliament from 10 to 12 January, 2024. I express my sincere and heartfelt congratulations to the organizer on this occasion.

Our nation Bharat is blessed with the rich heritage of ancient and eternal Indian knowledge, which has been the guiding light for all of us. The pursuit of knowledge is always considered in our thought and philosophy as the highest human goal. Students are the future of our country. They should, therefore, aspire for seeking more knowledge, to build our country on the edifice of Jnan and Pragya.

I sincerely trust that students are not just the learners but also contributors to the nation's growth and progress. Therefore, without the role of the students we cannot materialize our goal of Viksit Bharat. Every educational institution of the country should resolutely channelize the energy of the students and youth towards achieving our common goal of Developed India by 2047. Students are always the harbinger of diversity of ideas as their innovation should be utilized for a Viksit Bharat.

Indian Students' Parliament has always been a potent platform to hone and channelize the unbridled energy of our students. Therefore, I, wish this conclave a resounding success. Let me conclude with a quote from Swami Vivekananda, "All power is within you; you can do anything and everything. Believe in that, do not think that you are weak. You can do anything and everything without even the guidance of anyone. All power is there. Stand up and express the divinity within you".

Thank you and God Bless you all!

I am happy to learn that MIT World Peace University, Pune is organising 13th annual national conclave of 'Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad' from 10th to 12th January, 2024.

Youth is only medium and instrument for growth of a sensitive and modern world, social structure and social consciousness. I would like to congratulate the MIT World Peace University for immense contribution in fostering democratic values in young generation and building the capacity among our youth so they can become partners in the development of the nation. Today, our young generation, full of ideals, values and dreams, are courageously taking steps for overall social-economic reforms and through voluntary organisations, youth clubs, empowering the vulnerable section of society. In the journey of 'Amrit Kaal', they must contribute in reorientation of society's economic thinking to promote entrepreneurship and self-employment.

Our constitution provides for equal rights and opportunities to all. Youth must strive fully for the realization of these ideals. Unity in diversity is our greatest asset. The young generation must work together to strengthen this unity. We have to learn from others around the world and also share our own experience with a common resolve to build a better world.

António Guterres

Secretary-General,
United Nations Organization

We appreciate your kind invitation. Nevertheless, allow me to take this opportunity to convey best wishes for the success of the event.

Ban Ki-Moon

Then Secretary-General,
United Nations Organization

“ You are part of the largest generation of young people our world has ever known. We must work together to help young people make the most of their energies, ideas and leadership potential. ”

I am pleased to send my greetings to all the young people gathered for the Indian Student Parliament. You gather at a time of profound turmoil, transition and transformation. Insecurity, inequality and intolerance are spreading around the world. Governments are wasting vast and precious funds on deadly weapons while reducing investments in people. Too many people in power seem wilfully blind to the threat of climate change.

India is at a pivot point in its own history. In many ways, it faces the classic dilemma of a middle-income nation. On the one hand, we see India as the rising global power. On the other hand, India faces many of the challenges of a developing nation. For both these Indias, great opportunity awaits.

This is an era of great uncertainty, but also one of profound opportunity. No single leader, country or institution can do everything. But each of us, in our own way, can do something. Together, as partners, we can meet today's tests and seize the opportunities of an era of dramatic change.

Please accept my best wishes for a rewarding gathering.

Jan Eliasson

Former Deputy Secretary General, United Nations Organization

“The Parliament’s theme, “Inspiring Youth, Strengthening Democracy,” and objectives are very much aligned with the Secretary-General’s five year action agenda for youth.”

I commend the Indian Student Parliament for providing this important platform that will help prepare youth for the future leadership of India and for having brought together so many perspectives to address important challenges that youth are facing. The Parliament’s theme, “Inspiring Youth, Strengthening Democracy,” and objectives are very much aligned with the Secretary-General’s five year action agenda for youth. My congratulations on the successful outcome of the event

Irina Bokova

Then Director - General, UNESCO, Paris

“Let me commend this initiative of the MIT-SOG Pune, India. Everywhere I travel I am inspired by the energy and the commitment to change that comes from young people.”

Let me commend this initiative of the MIT School of Government, Pune, India. Everywhere I travel I am inspired by the energy and the commitment to change that comes from young people. Young people are one billion strong in the world. They carry a billion hopes for a better world. The year 2011 will be remembered as the year the young people decided to take the torch of human dignity and speak up for human rights. It resulted in an unprecedented movement for democracy, justice and peace. Young people must be considered as actors for change and not simply as beneficiaries. They are already changing the world; they are enriching the culture and media. It is the role of UNESCO to give them the skills and tools to do so in ways that strengthen the ties between cultures that protect human rights and fundamental freedoms. Quality education is the starting point. If we combine the hopes of youth with quality education, there is nothing we cannot achieve. This is where UNESCO will continue to fight, to provide each and every girl and boy with everything they need to share their ideas and act on them. Indian Students Parliament is another unique opportunity for you to debate ideas in a democratic spirit, to envision ways to make the world a better place. Be imaginative, generous and ambitious. As your great Mahatma Gandhi put it be the change you want to see in the world. You are not only the leaders of tomorrow, you are the leading actors of today.

I wish you every success in your discussions.

“Without young people in politics, democracy is incomplete and policies cannot be properly articulated, well designed and fully implemented.”

Dear participants to the ISP, Namaste! I would like to congratulate you on your considerable enthusiasm in participating in this magnificent event that gathers young people from all corners of India, the world's largest democracy. I would like to commend in particular, Mr. Rahul Karad, Founder and Convenor, for his relentless efforts to inspire young people from India to get involved in the public affairs of their country by fostering open debate and dialogue.

Although we may be physically thousands of miles apart, we are united in our common pursuit to ensure youth participation in politics and decision making, which is part and parcel of the IPU's objectives and areas of work. Dear Students, for those of you who do not know the Inter-Parliamentary Union, the IPU is the world organization national parliaments. Over 170 parliaments are the members of the organization representing more than 6.5 billion people. The IPU promotes democratic parliaments. A democratic parliament is one that is representative, transparent, accessible and accountable, including young people. (Video Message was also conveyed during 10th Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad)

“Such participation and readiness to learn more about how you can offer your talents for the common good and in service of your fellow citizens shows a laudable spirit of public service.”

Having been a parliamentarian and now a Secretary General of Commonwealth, it is a real pleasure to address you at the conclusion of the Indian Students Parliament. I most heartily commend you all for taking part. Such participation and readiness to learn more about how you can offer your talents for the common good and in service of your fellow citizens shows a laudable spirit of public service. I urge you to remember that as well as being citizens of a great nation, India, you are citizens of a great global family of nations, the Commonwealth!

It is striking at such gatherings to see the productive interaction between participants working together, thinking together and learning from one another, whether they represent large and populous nations, small and vulnerable island states, vast economies or fragile, less developed countries. “ You are not the world’s first student parliament, you are probably not the world’s oldest one either, but I dare say that you might well be the world’s largest one because you belong to the country which has the world’s largest democracy. ”

I am very humbled as I sit here and I see you through my screen. I am very honored and pleased to have this opportunity to talk to India’s upcoming leaders who are gathered here in MIT campus in Pune for the 3rd Indian Student Parliament. “India’s young population is its most valuable asset, the young people as a future of the Commonwealth.”

It is also great to see organizations like the MIT University working to strengthen democracy through a forum like this one. As you know the CPA is a voice of parliamentary democracy across the Commonwealth and has been for over a century since its establishment in 1911, promoting a parliamentary development and up skilling members of parliament. It brings together 70000 or over parliamentarians from 180 legislatures across the Commonwealth. As the largest democracy in the world, India which is one of the fastest growing economies in world, today it is home to a seventh of the world’s youth. Half of which population is under 25 and a quota is below the below the age of 14. India’s young population is its most valuable asset, the young people as a future of the Commonwealth. As such India has a long recognized the importance of young people to the future of Commonwealth society.

ADDRESS & BRIEFING ON CONCEPT OF BHARATIYA CHHATRA SANSAD

Shri. Rahul V. Karad

Executive President, MIT-WPU, Pune & Chief Initiator, MIT SOG,
Founder, NLC, NTC, NWP, Sarpanch Sansad

The Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad - Indian Student Parliament stands out as a significant platform fostering the development of future political leaders since last 12 years. It has been championing the communication across the country that Educated, Qualified and competent people must come in public life. There is a need of educated and aware citizens, ideal voters for our country in order to strengthen our democracy and as academic institution, MIT School of Government has been keeping the very spirit since last 18 years and continuing the same in the 19th year also. Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad aims to promote that all the MLAs in the country should develop platforms like the Youth Parliament. From grassroot to upper level everywhere there is a role of politics. Hence, every Vidhan Sabha, also Zilla Parishad to Municipalities and all such Government Institutions should have one such Leadership School with a similar model like the MIT School of Government which will fulfil our aim to transform politics and encourage participation of most active and committed people in public life.

“If we sensitize the demographic dividend which is the Youth of our country, we will definitely propel the growth of our nation much faster.”

Shri. M. Venkaiah Naidu

Former Vice President of India

WPU stands as a beacon of holistic education, instilling values, fostering critical thinking, and nurturing leaders who will contribute to the nation's development. Your education here is not just a means to acquire knowledge but a journey to become responsible citizens with a commitment to social welfare. I encourage you to engage in meaningful discussions, question the status quo, and contribute positively to society. Remember, the strength of a nation lies in the hands of its youth. Embrace knowledge, uphold values, and strive for excellence.

“Students, embrace knowledge, uphold values, and strive for excellence to shape tomorrow's leaders.”

(L to R) UNESCO Chair Holder Revered Prof. Dr. Vishwanath D. Karad, Shri. M. Venkaiah Naidu and Shri. Satish Mahana

Prof. Dr. Vishwanath D. Karad

Founder President, MIT World Peace University,
Founder Executive President, WPC, MAEER's MIT Group
of Institutions

When our country Mother India celebrated the diamond jubilee and the 75th Independence Day of India, I was only reminded of my duty, and the duty of BCS, and men who have great concern for making this Mother India very unique country in this world. In 1893 Swami Vivekananda said religion is nothing but performing duty, duty towards the mother, father, family society, the nation, and the whole world - Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam. I would like to appeal to all on this occasion. What are your and my liabilities? What will be the BCS's liability? From this moment onwards we have to create a new image for Mother India. The 21st century is for Mother India and in this 21st century, our Mother India is going to emerge as a knowledge code of the world- Vishva Guru. I appeal to you to keep this word.

“From this moment onwards we have to create a new image for Mother India.”

VOTE OF THANKS

Dr. K Gireesan

Director, MIT School of Government

The Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad is the largest non-political platform in the country with the primary objective of attracting and motivating youth leaders towards politics. BCS reiterates the conviction that good political leadership is a pre-condition towards good governance and vibrant democracy. And MITSOG has been contributing towards achieving that with commitment and professionalism. The MITSOG team believe that what we do it something like 'drop in an ocean' but we are fully convinced that this drop will make a definite difference to the political eco system of Bharat. Special thanks to the Chief Guest Shri. Venkaiah Naidu, Former Vice President of India for his words of wisdom with a strong message on the values and ideals to be followed by the student leaders in their journey ahead. Special gratitude to Prof. Ram Charan for his presence and message to the youth. Gratitude to the Presiding Officers of legislative bodies from different States for their valuable presence during the inaugural session. Special Gratitude to Prof. Viswanath Karad for his blessings and constant guidance; and Shri. Rahul Karad for his vision and unstinted support in working towards that with a missionary zeal. May the 13th edition of BCS be a catalyst of ideas, forging a path toward a bright and united future.

It is with great pleasure and immense honor that I stand before you today, as we embark on the journey of the 13th Indian Student Parliament. I extend my heartfelt welcome to each one of you. I implore each of you to actively engage in the democratic processes that underpin our society, for it is through such engagement that we can effect meaningful change. Let us immerse ourselves in constructive policy discussions, advocating for solutions that uphold the values of social justice and inclusivity.

At MIT World Peace University, we are deeply committed to foster peace and social harmony through education and civic participation.

May our deliberations here ignite the flames of inspiration and drive us toward a brighter future for all. Thank you.

CHAIRMAN

Shri. Basavaraj Horatti

Chairman, Karnataka Legislative Council

The problem is today's youth of our country are not entering politics properly. What are the reasons that they are not coming? Why are they not taking interest? So in this respect, I want to ask the students what is your problem? Ask questions to yourself and express your inner feelings about politics. Today, some people feel that politics is very dirty and hence many, especially the youth, are anxious about the future of India. Therefore, good people should come to the forefront, and particularly youth should enter politics, whether they come to the Assembly or Parliament or Council.

“Whatever it may be, today, the most necessary is- the entry of youth in politics.”

AADARSH YUVA VIDHAYAK SAMMAN (IDEAL YOUTH MLA HONOR)

Shri. Satyajeeet Sudhir Tambe

Member of Legislative Council,
Maharashtra (Graduates Nashik),

Today, I am feeling immense joy as I am being honored with the Ideal Legislator Award by my alma mater, MIT. MIT played a pivotal role in introducing me to student politics. Beginning from NSUI to Youth Congress, it has been a journey. In the upcoming year 2024, I believe it will be a Mahakumbh Mela for democracy as elections are set to take place in 64 out of 127 countries. It's not just India; the festival of democracy is being celebrated in 64 nations worldwide. Youth participation is crucial in this celebration of democracy. It's not just about contesting elections; the involvement of youth in politics should be serious and vigilant. Winning elections shouldn't be the only goal; rather, we need to approach politics with sincerity and awareness.

“It's not just about contesting elections; the involvement of youth in politics should be serious and vigilant.”

It's a privilege to address you today both as a student pursuing my M.B.B.S degree and as the Sarpanch of Vaddi Village in Maharashtra's Sangli district. This dual role has given me a unique perspective on the intersection of education and grassroots leadership in fostering positive change. As a future doctor, I am deeply committed to address the healthcare needs of my community. Simultaneously, as Sarpanch, I strive to empower every individual in my village to lead better lives. The 13th Bhartiya Chhatra Sansad serves as a beacon of youth engagement and political leadership. Such platforms ignite the passion within us to contribute meaningfully to our nation's progress.

I want to express with great enthusiasm that I am a son of the country where Emperor Ashoka and Maharaja Ranjit Singh once ruled. I am thrilled to share that I belong to a nation where language, color, and lifestyle change every 50 miles. Thanks to the MIT School of Government for organizing this motivational event for the youth. I want to convey a message to the youth at this event. Baba Saheb Ambedkar once said that- "life should not just be long; it should be great. To make life great, you need a vision". Until success is achieved, do not give up the sacrifice of sleep and peace. Do not run away from the battlefield of struggles. Without doing something, there is no victory. Those who strive never lose, and those who attempt never fail.

I, too, am a youth, having recently left my college days, where I used to think politics was a negative field. But, as Rahul sir mentioned, if something is wrong, one should step in and take the initiative to correct it. Inspired by this, I began my journey by contesting for the position of sarpanch, and today, I am proud that our village has CCTVs, Wi-Fi, and well-constructed roads. I have done everything I could think of in the last two and a half years for my village, and I am confident that in the next two and a half years, I will achieve even more. Today, meeting Rahul sir, and all the students at MIT, fills me with great joy. I believe that the future of India is in safe hands.

Sitting in front of me are the young minds of my country, and I want to say to this youth power that we often seek opportunities to do something good, thinking that we too can become great. I want to tell you all that we have the opportunities; we just need to recognize it. Whenever we embark on something new in our lives or step out of our comfort zones, many oppose, and we face challenges. But, recalling Mahatma Gandhi's words, "First, they ignore you, then they laugh at you, then they fight with you, then you win." So, I encourage you to give your 100%, show complete dedication, and put all your strength into what you are doing. As Swami Vivekananda said, "Stand like a tree for a cause. If you fall, fall like a seed in the middle, so you can sprout again and stand for the same cause."

It is a common perception that all politicians are corrupt. If we want to break this perception, we must step forward. Today, as I have this opportunity to speak before all my youth companions, I earnestly request you to consider being part of the change you want to see. The famous saying "Be the change you want to see" emphasizes the need for individual contributions to make a difference. Today, I am urging you all to join this cause. Until there is a new perspective in politics, until there is youthful enthusiasm, and until educated individuals engage in politics, the change we desire won't happen. I have a concern that even common people feel the need for a basic criterion in different professions, so why not in politics? There should be a basic educational criterion to participate in politics. This is something I wish to address and work on in the future..

“I have a concern that even common people feel the need for a basic criterion in different professions, so why not in politics?”

STUDENT LEADERS

The leadership of a nation must rest upon the power of its youth. It's within the younger generation that the ability to innovate thrives, and through political engagement, this potential reaches its zenith. Every patriotic youth should courageously enter politics, dedicating themselves to the nation's growth and development till their last breath. While it's often said that youth should be given leadership opportunities in politics, I believe true change requires proactive initiative. To surmount challenges, we must take the first step ourselves. It's time to transcend mere dialogue and catalyze tangible changes, facing realities head-on.

“If you want to make a change, you must take the initiative yourself.”

Shubhankar Pandit, Gujarat

Beloved sisters and brothers, let us cast aside the veil of disillusionment shrouding our political perspective. Dishonesty and monetary sway have stifled our involvement, eroding the foundations of meritocracy. Shall we passively observe or emerge as architects of change? Having witnessed the ravages of poverty, hunger, and climate change, now it is our moment to storm the corridors of power and amplify our voices. Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar's wisdom echoes - the constitution's efficacy rests on its stewards' character. The responsibility is ours to turn rhetoric into reality, transforming aspirations into tangible change.

“We've seen poverty, hunger, climate change. Now, let's storm the system's corridors, and make our voices heard.”

Today's political landscape yearns for youth leaders akin to Subash Chandra Bose, Bhagat Singh, and Chandra Shekhar Azad, whose dynamism could chart a new course for our nation. Despite possessing immense potential, today's youth often lack resources and opportunities. Yet, a troubling trend emerges: a growing disinterest in politics. To counter this, involving youth is imperative to infuse fresh perspectives and nurture ownership. Active engagement in democratic processes empowers them to hold officials accountable. Ultimately, it's on the youth to ignite positive change and propel the vision of a new India.

“If If you flip the page, we can see that today's youth is developing a lack of interest in politics.”

Bomito Kinimi, Nagaland

Youth engagement in politics is pivotal to instill professionalism in politics, elevating it to a platform for public service rather than a mere career. Unlike the U.S., where presidential nominees often emerge from esteemed universities, India's elite graduates sometimes perceive political involvement as beneath their aspirations. To the principled and idealistic youth, I implore you to envision politics as integral to our nation's future. India requires inspirational leaders, not those needing constant justification. Let our foray into politics and catalyze a leadership transformation that our nation truly merits.

“Youth involvement in politics is vital for instilling professionalism, viewing it as public service, not just a career.”

STUDENT LEADERS

Prajakta Bhangе, Maharashtra

As long as our youth protests on Delhi's streets amid charred roads, ensnared in communal fires, supporting divisive slogans, until they prioritize education over religious conflicts, address issues like Nirbhaya's dignity violation, and spotlight neglected regions like Manipur, as long as they make the nation's daughters' dignity a viral cause, not just rhetoric; talk of youth leadership in politics is futile. Staring at a standing sea won't cross its shores; break boundaries, empower yourselves, and strengthen your wings for flight.

“Shores cannot cross the standing sea by just gazing at it. Either break your boundaries or make yourself capable.”

In these classrooms, in this field, in those surroundings with coffee shops, where we sat, we charted our path. Like you, I am also a product of MIT, and today, this is like a homecoming for me. The opportunity to come back home has been fulfilled today after 14-15 years, and it's due to Rahul Ji. The empowerment of Youth is essential, and when awakened, it significantly influences India's development. When I left for Delhi from this MIT campus, 14-15 years ago, India's economy was ranked tenth globally in the Fraser's Index. Fast forward to today, India's economy is not just in the Fastest Five but has established itself as the fastest-growing economy. Upon my return, India had only 350 kilometers of optical fiber connectivity. As of 2022, India boasts a network of 6 lakh kilometers of optical fiber, creating a digital bridge that connects cities to villages. Just as Lord Shri Ram built the Ram Setu to connect Lanka, today, a digital bridge stands, linking Indian cities to villages.

“The empowerment of Youth is essential, and when awakened, it significantly influences India's development.”

Shri. Prithviraj Chavan

MLA, Maharashtra (INC, Karad S., Maharashtra),
Former Chief Minister, Maharashtra

It is with great honor and humility that I stand before you today at the 13th Bhartiya Chhatra Sansad. I extend my warmest greetings and gratitude to each one of you.

In reflecting on the pivotal role of youth in shaping our nation's destiny, I draw upon my experiences, both as a Member of the Legislative Assembly and as a former Chief Minister of Maharashtra. Active participation in democratic processes is essential for effecting meaningful change. We must prioritize the welfare of all citizens, regardless of their socio-economic background.

I urge the youth gathered here to engage in constructive dialogue and advocate for policies that promote social justice and inclusive development. Together, we possess the power to drive positive transformation through collective action and unity among diverse voices. Education stands as a powerful catalyst for progress. I implore students to harness their knowledge and skills to create a more equitable and prosperous future for India.

Let us heed this call to action, be proactive in our civic engagement, and work tirelessly towards building a nation that leaves no one behind.

“Empowering youth through active democracy, inclusive policies, and education is the key to shaping a prosperous and just India.”

QUESTION AND ANSWER SESSION

Aryaki

(Madya Pradesh)

Question:

Indians are migrating to various countries for jobs, did we fail our youth?

Answer:

Shri. Prithviraj Chavan: Right now India's student enrollment is 25% at the college level and it is expected to double by 2040. It is very difficult to provide highly skilled jobs in our country to our youths. Our economic growth is not compatible with job generation, which leads to migration to other countries. It is not bad we will get a return on this as well.

Shri. Shehzad Poonawalla: Indians are coming back to India because we are providing them with better opportunities.

Shivam Dube
(Mumbai, Maharashtra)

Question:

How can we bridge the gap between the aspirations of the youth and the reality of the political system?

Answer:

Shri. Prithviraj Chavan: It is a good thing to be ambitious. If we want to grow at a faster pace then we have to move from the agriculture sector to the industrial sector and service sectors.

Shri. Shehzad Poonawalla: Youth must get a chance based on performance and merit instead of favoritism. Then more opportunities will be opened for the youths in politics.

Khushi

Question:

Is an emphasis on youth leadership more during election time or does it sustain post-election?

Answer:

Shri. Prithviraj Chavan: At least in INC the leadership is given to younger leaders, and because of this, we perform well. INC is run by youth leaders.

Shri. Basavaraj Horatti: Youth are not joining politics, youth must participate and contest elections, which will improve the political system and governance of our country..

Afrin

Question:

Why the voice of the youth in our country is stamped upon?

Answer:

Shri. Prithviraj Chavan: We must make sure that all parties have more democracy so it will have more youths in the decision-making. More internal democracy is required.

Shri. Shehzad Poonawalla: It was all because of MIT School of Government, I am here. I am standing in BCS and became a spokesperson of BJP all because of Rahul sir's initiative. Isiliye me kehata hu "Rahul hai to mumkin hai".

It is with immense pleasure and a sense of profound purpose that I extend a warm welcome to each one of you to the session with the theme "Yugaantar - Youth in Transition." This theme encapsulates the essence of the transformative journey that today's youth are undertaking as they navigate through various facets of life.

As we gather here today, we must recognize the significance of understanding and embracing this transitional phase that youth are experiencing, spanning realms such as education, career, and societal engagement. At the heart of this transition lies the pivotal role of liberal arts education, which equips students with essential skills such as critical thinking, empathy, and adaptability.

The Indian Student Parliament serves as a vital platform for youth to articulate their perspectives, aspirations, and concerns amidst these transitions.

Let us embark on this journey with a spirit of curiosity, empathy, and proactive engagement, as we collectively strive to shape a future that is guided by our shared values and aspirations.

“Embrace transitions, empower voices. In the symphony of change, youth wield the baton, shaping a harmonious future.”

“Student’s power is Nation’s power” Yugaantar is youth in transition, symbolizing the transition our young generation undergoes as they cross the complexity of the modern world. As leaders and policymakers, it’s our responsibility to provide a conducive environment to help the youths to embrace transition successfully. Giving priority to young students as they are the nation builders. The transition of youths to adulthood brings economic challenges. We need to create an environment that encourages entrepreneurship, innovation, and skill development. By doing so we empower our youths not only in getting employment opportunities but also in contributing to the overall growth of the nation.

As a proud member of the Rashtriya Janata Dal, hailing from Sheohar, Bihar, I am aware of the challenges and aspirations of our youth. In this esteemed gathering of the Bhartiya Chhatra Sansad, I am reminded of the immense potential and power vested in our youth. Yet, this potential remains largely untapped due to various systemic barriers and societal constraints. It is imperative that we, as young leaders, rise to the occasion and actively engage in the democratic process. We must champion the voices of the marginalized, advocate for inclusive policies, and strive to create a more equitable society. Together, let us harness the energy and enthusiasm of our youth to drive positive change and build a brighter future for Bihar and our nation as a whole.

In today's world, we confront numerous challenges: climate change, water scarcity, food insecurity, poverty, and unequal access to education. It's incumbent upon youth to become exemplary citizens and contribute to their country's betterment. Staying informed amidst the proliferation of fake news is crucial. We must consume news judiciously and ensure that we're well-informed about the world around us. Hard work is non-negotiable. As the saying goes, "Laziness is the greatest enemy of humanity, and there is no friend like hard work." Shortcuts are tempting, but success is achieved through diligence and perseverance. Integrity and ethics must guide our actions. We must resist the allure of shortcuts, adhering steadfastly to principles of honesty and morality. Say yes more than you say no. Aim high, refuse to settle for mediocrity, and remain insatiable in your pursuit of knowledge and experience. Procrastination has no place in this ethos; "Do it now" should be our mantra.

The intergenerational exchange between the elderly and youth yields a profound advantage: the vibrancy and dynamism of youth inspire us. Youth, as architects of the future, bear the mantle of change and hold immense responsibility for facilitating transition. Amidst the clash between traditional ideologies and scientific knowledge, it falls upon the youth to shape and guide this transition toward a new and righteous direction. Understanding India's ancient and medieval cultural heritage is essential for mastering the science of political leadership.

When leading the world as the third-largest economy, it's imperative to showcase our true Indianness. Effective leaders have the power to transform organizations, uplift communities, develop nations, and revolutionize the world. While humans take from the environment, they often fail to reciprocate. To succeed, we must remember our roots and fortify them. Just as the depth of our roots determines the height of our achievements, returning to our origins ensures sustained success and prosperity.

“Rooted in our heritage, youth shape the future; the depth of our roots determines our heights.”

Dr. Vikram Sampath

Renowned Historian & Columnist

History serves as a vital mirror reflecting our civilization, our nation, and our identity. A thorough study of history is indispensable for true Yugantar. As George Orwell famously said, "He who controls the earth controls the future." Genuine pride is essential to embody true Bharatiyata. We boast the distinction of being the sole surviving pre-bronze age civilization. Delving into the narratives of unsung heroes and heroines like Begum Hazrat Mahal, Kanhoji Angre, and Rani Abbakka is imperative. Their stories, alongside those of Vinayak Damodar Savarkar, Netaji Subhash Chandra Bose, Rash Behari Bose, and the Chaphekar Brothers, instill a genuine sense of pride.

"In your success lies the rise, the radiance, and the prosperity of our nation. May God bless all you young individuals, guiding this great nation to even greater heights in the forthcoming Yug Parivartan." As we delve into the intricate dynamics of Democracy 2.0, the fusion of artificial intelligence (AI) and social media emerges as a transformative force reshaping our political landscape. It is my privilege to address you today on this critical topic.

AI and social media have revolutionized the way information is disseminated, opinions are formed, and decisions are made in our democratic processes. They amplify voices, dismantle traditional barriers to participation, and enable unprecedented levels of engagement among citizens.

However, amidst these promises of connectivity and democratization, we also confront significant challenges. We must harness the potential of AI and social media to enhance transparency, promote inclusivity, and strengthen civic engagement. Let us strive to build a Democracy 2.0 that is resilient, equitable, and responsive to the needs of all citizens.

Ms. Apurva Singh

National BJYM 11 State Incharge of Social Media, Founder of Vibes of Bharat and Social Activist.

With great honor, I address you today on the topic of Democracy 2.0 and the profound impact of artificial intelligence (AI) and social media. As the National BJYM Incharge of Social Media, I've witnessed the transformative changes these technologies bring to our political landscape.

AI and social media revolutionize how information spreads, opinions form, and decisions are made in our democratic processes. They amplify voices, dismantle barriers to participation, and foster unprecedented citizen engagement. However, amidst these promises, we face challenges. Misinformation, privacy erosion, and public opinion manipulation question the integrity of our democratic institutions. As we navigate this terrain, we must scrutinize these technologies and commit to safeguard democratic principles.

We must use AI and social media to enhance transparency, promote inclusivity, and strengthen civic engagement. Together, let's forge a path where technology empowers rather than manipulates. Let's build a resilient, equitable Democracy 2.0, responsive to all citizens' needs.

“The Democracy 2.0 demands vigilant stewardship of AI and social media for transparency and inclusivity”

Adv. Somnath Bharti

Member of Legislative Assembly, Delhi (AAP, Malviya Nagar, South Delhi),
Advocate, Supreme Court of India

Social media and AI should serve as an unbiased tool for every citizen that enables democracy for them irrespective of resources and other aspects. One should enable themselves to participate in democracy. Without that motive no AI or social media could be of any use. We should emphasize the fact that any AI or social media must be used with consciousness that will certainly lead to the righteous use of it. Yes I agree that these technology has the potential to spread fake news and damage personal image. Rather than criticizing it, we can come up with smart solutions to deal with such shortcomings. There is no doubt that it is a new age where these tools emphasize the better functioning of government in serving the social needs.

“Empowerment through conscious use of AI and social media enhances democracy and societal progress.”

It is both an honor and a responsibility to stand before you today to discuss the profound impact of AI and social media on Democracy 2.0. I have witnessed the transformative power of media firsthand.

In this digital age, AI and social media are reshaping the landscape of democracy, offering both unprecedented opportunities and daunting challenges. These technologies have democratized access to information, amplifying voices and fostering global connectivity. However, they also pose privacy threats, manipulate public discourse, and exacerbate divisions within society.

As we navigate this complex terrain, we must approach AI and social media with critical awareness and ethical responsibility. We must harness their potential to promote transparency, civic engagement, and social cohesion.

Together, let us strive towards a Democracy 2.0 that empowers citizens, upholds democratic values, and fosters inclusive dialogue. Let us harness the power of technology to strengthen our democracy and build a more just and equitable society.

Dr. K Gireesan

Director, MIT-SOG, MIT World Peace University

Distinguished guests, esteemed delegates, and participants. Welcome to the 13th Bhartiya Chattr Sansad. Today, we are gathered here to reflect on the theme 'Data, Diversity, and Democracy: Caste Census Dilemma.' Aristotle revered teaching and politics as noble callings. Is politics merely a profession, or does it embody the professionalization of ideals? The School of Government aspires to instill professionalism in emerging leaders. How should leaders navigate critical decisions? Must political expediency be the sole determinant of actions? Let's fuse economic rationality, scientific insights, spatial parameters, and political expediency in decision-making. This session invites us to explore how data and diversity influence governance and democracy. Let's foster dialogue, realign perspectives, and deepen comprehension. Thank you.

“Delving into data, diversity, and democracy - forging pathways for informed decision-making in governance.”

13th BHARATIYA CHHATRA SANSADCHAIRMAN*Shri. Girish Gautam

Former Speaker, Madhya Pradesh Legislative Assembly,
Member of Legislative Assembly, Madhya Pradesh
(BJP, Deotalab, Rewa, Madhya Pradesh)

I extend profound gratitude to Rahul Karadji for this esteemed invitation, granting me the opportunity to address a crucial issue. Today, I aim to explore the pressing topic of Data, Diversity, and Democracy, especially concerning the ongoing discourse on the Caste Census. Despite 75 years of independence, debates persist on census methodologies. I advocate earnestly for completing the caste census with sincerity, ensuring it informs policies for inclusive development. Our nation's progress is deeply intertwined with its diverse cultural fabric, where education serves as the paramount battleground for empowerment. Conducting comprehensive censuses across social, economic, and educational domains is essential for leveraging data effectively. Tradition and modernity coexist in our society, warranting meticulous examination of every facet. We must utilize data judiciously to advance societal progress while upholding democratic values and honoring our diverse heritage. Recognizing data's pivotal role in promoting diversity and democracy is imperative.

“Gratitude for the invitation; advocating for inclusive development through sincere caste census completion.”

Dr. Sanjay Kumar

Professor & Co-Director of Lokniti, Centre for the Study of Developing Societies (CSDS)

In a diverse country like India, data plays a pivotal role in shaping policy decisions across various domains. From understanding climate patterns to analyzing election outcomes, data forms the backbone of informed decision-making. Even in healthcare, data guides medical professionals in diagnosis and treatment. Recognizing data’s importance in these aspects highlights its significance in formulating policies that govern our society, economy, and polity. Without accurate and comprehensive data, crafting effective policies becomes challenging and riddled with uncertainties.

By utilizing data-driven insights, policymakers can address the complex challenges facing our nation in a targeted and equitable manner, transcending political differences. Embracing data-driven governance is crucial for addressing the diverse needs of society, empowering marginalized segments, and fostering inclusive development.

“Data-driven governance empowers inclusive development, transcending political differences for societal progress and prosperity”

Prof. Manoj Kumar Jha

Member of Parliament, Rajya Sabha (RJD, Bihar),
Professor, University of Delhi, National Spokesperson, RJD

I am honored to address the intricate nexus of Data, Diversity, and Democracy, specifically within the context of the ongoing Caste Census Dilemma.

India's diversity is both its strength and its challenge. Our nation's mosaic of cultures, languages, and traditions makes us unique, yet it also presents complex socio-economic and political dynamics. The caste system, deeply ingrained in our society, continues to shape lives and opportunities, often marginalizing the most vulnerable.

In this landscape, data assumes paramount importance. It serves as a compass guiding policymakers toward more informed decisions, particularly in matters of social justice and equitable development. However, the exclusion of caste data from census exercises perpetuates invisibility and exacerbates inequalities.

Therefore, I urge for a transparent and inclusive approach to the Caste Census, one that acknowledges the lived experiences of all individuals and empowers marginalized communities. Let us harness the power of data to strengthen democracy, promote diversity, and foster a more just and equitable society for all.

“Championing inclusivity, transparency, and data empowerment for a just and equitable society.”

QUESTION AND ANSWER SESSION

Akash Ambedkar

Question:

What are the potential economic implications of using caste-based data to identify social inequality?

Answer:

Prof. Manoj Kumar Jha: It will help to formulate government policy, and college admission, in technical institutions as well as in contractual jobs.

Prajwal

Question:

How will the caste-based census reduce caste-based marginalization and atrocities?

Answer:

Dr. Ajay Kumar: The best way to reduce it is by making fields equal to them with the help of reducing economic equality. The caste system does not exist in the elite section of society and the best way to go in the elite class is by economic upliftment only.

Prathamesh

Question:

How do you balance the demand for social justice as well as political implications by conducting a caste-based census?

Answer:

Dr. Sanjay Kumar: This data will help to improve the condition of the downtrodden and make their life easier. It is the data that can provide us with enough information for policymaking. Hence caste census is crucial.

Twitter

Question:

Do we think that the caste-based reservation in jobs will bring financial prosperity?

Answer:

Prof. Manoj Kumar Jha: Why can't have a caste-based reservation for the upper caste for cleaning the manhole and sewage plant?

I am honored to address the profound significance of women in Indian society, drawing parallels with revered female figures from our cultural traditions. As we gather here, let us contemplate the safety of women on Earth post-moon landing, a thought-provoking question that warrants our attention. Throughout history, women have been worshipped in various forms, yet societal dynamics have often suppressed their voices. It is imperative to address this issue from a security perspective, especially as our society becomes more educated. Empowerment through education and opportunities is key. Laws like the Prohibition of Child Marriage Act have been instrumental, but we must continue to strive for progress.

Changing mindsets and values, particularly among the youth, is crucial for societal transformation. Let us engage in discussions across various topics and governance levels, empowering the youth to lead and facilitate positive change.

How can we celebrate landing on the moon when the women in our homes, and our communities, are not safe? Despite worshipping girls during Navratri, they endure fear within their own families. Harassment persists in personal, public, and professional spheres. The 4% rise in crimes against women, coupled with champions like Sakshi Malik quitting sports due to societal challenges, demands our attention. It's time to prioritize safety and equality for all. Thank you.

“Women’s safety on Earth must precede the celebration of milestones like a moon landing.”

Nidhi Sandhir, Delhi

The statistics presented by Relief World paint a grim picture of the challenges women face in our society. From human trafficking to witch-hunting traditions in the Jharkhand Belt, and the alarming rise in acid attacks, particularly in Bangalore, triggered by marriage proposal rejections, it's evident that our women live in constant fear. We preach “Beti Bachao, Beti Padhao,” yet fail to ensure their safety. It's time to teach our sons healthy ways to handle rejection and to address the root causes of violence against women. Thank you.

“In a society preaching ‘Beti Bachao, Beti Padhao,’ women’s safety must precede lofty aspirations.”

STUDENT LEADERS

Ashishdeep Kaur, Punjab

The paradox of celebrating women's contributions while denying them basic respect at home reflects a deep-rooted societal issue. Our entertainment industry perpetuates objectification and sexualization, influencing our youth. Blaming food or hormonal imbalances for justifying rape is abhorrent. Women shouldn't fear stepping out or needing permission for decisions. Shockingly, crimes against women are often perpetrated by family or friends. The story of a 12-year-old girl, sold as property is a stark reminder of our collective failure. Women must unite, demand rights, and ensure representation in all spheres, including parliament. Thank you.

“Women unite for rights, from homes to parliament, against crimes and societal norms.”

Aditi Sharma, Uttar Pradesh

India's achievement in reaching the moon is indeed significant, but it's equally crucial to address the safety of our daughters in their own homes. Despite progress, women in India face pervasive harassment from a young age. While women hold esteemed positions and contribute significantly, their safety remains a pressing issue. Our culture reveres goddesses and prioritizes women's names, yet their safety is compromised. It's time to ensure that our daughters feel safe and respected, both at home and in society. Thank you.

“India's progress is incomplete until every daughter feels safe; women's empowerment is integral to development.”

As we commemorate 75 years of independence and our remarkable achievement of reaching the moon's south pole, we must ask ourselves: when will we celebrate 100% safety for women? Despite revering girls during Navratri, they endure harassment and fear in their own homes. Mistreatment of women persists across personal, public, and professional realms. Even accomplished champions like Sakshi Malik resign from sports due to societal challenges. It's imperative to prioritize creating a secure environment for women on Earth before celebrating such feats. Let's strive for a nation where every woman feels safe and respected.

I am deeply honored to stand before you today at the 13th Bhartiya Chhatra Sansad, an esteemed platform for dialogue and discourse on pressing issues facing our nation. As an activist for women's rights and gender equality and a practicing lawyer at the Bombay High Court, I am aware of the challenges and injustices that continue to plague our society.

In a country where we celebrate progress and achievement, we cannot ignore the harsh reality that women still face discrimination, violence, and oppression daily. We must come together to address these systemic issues and strive for a society where every individual, regardless of gender, is treated with dignity and respect.

As young leaders and change-makers, you have the power to drive meaningful change and shape the future of our nation. Let us work together to dismantle barriers, challenge stereotypes, and create a more inclusive and equitable society for all.

Thank you for your attention, and I look forward to engage in fruitful discussions with each one of you.

It is an honor to address the 13th Indian Student Parliament, a platform where the voices of tomorrow's leaders resonate with passion and purpose. As a scientist, I am privileged to share insights with such a dynamic gathering.

In a rapidly evolving world, where technological advancements shape the course of nations, the role of young minds in shaping the future cannot be overstated. As students, you possess boundless potential to drive innovation, foster progress, and chart a path toward a brighter tomorrow.

My journey in the field of aerospace and defense technology has taught me the importance of perseverance, collaboration, and innovation. As you embark on your endeavors, I urge you to embrace curiosity, challenge the status quo, and strive for excellence in all that you do.

Together, let us harness the power of knowledge, innovation, and collective action to build a future that is prosperous, inclusive, and sustainable for generations to come. Thank you.

Smt. Roopa Ganguly

First and foremost, I extend my heartfelt congratulations to the student speakers whose bravery and strength have shone brightly today. It is indeed a testament to the resilience of our youth.

Our theme today, "As we land on the Moon, are Women Safe on Land?" may seem like a peculiar juxtaposition, but it serves as a poignant reminder of our dual responsibilities. While we celebrate milestones like the moon landing, we must also address the pressing issue of women's safety.

It's important to note that while reported cases of harassment may have increased, it's not necessarily indicative of a rise in incidents. Nevertheless, it's a call to action for all of us to ensure the safety and dignity of women in our society. As a nation, we are collectively responsible for shaping our future. While each state strives to combat crimes against women, we must remember that true change starts with us. I vividly recall the inception of the POSCO Act, emphasizing the importance of educating children about personal safety. Let us not dilute our focus with political agendas; our allegiance to our nation should transcend political affiliations.

It is with great pleasure and humility that I stand before you at the 13th Bhartiya Chhatra Sansad, a forum where the voices of our youth converge to shape the future of our nation.

Throughout my tenure as a public servant, I have had the privilege of serving in various capacities, including as a Minister for General Administration, Education, Health, and Women and Child Development in the Government of Maharashtra. These experiences have reinforced my belief in the power of youth-led initiatives and the importance of inclusive governance.

Today, as we gather to discuss critical issues facing our nation, I urge each of you to embrace your role as agents of change. Let us work together to build a society where every voice is heard, every individual is empowered, and every dream is within reach.

QUESTION AND ANSWER SESSION

Jignesh Gujar
(Mumbai, Maharashtra)

Question:

How can we use technology and social media to spread awareness to curb the violence against women?

Answer:

Smt. Roopa Ganguly: Social media is a very useful thing if we know how to use it. It will produce results based on the Algorithm. Based on your post that will get back to you. The best way is to halt the use of social media for a while and search for something different instead.

Manasi Kale

Question:

The Supreme Court ruled that the political party can't mandate a POSH Committee to address the women's grievances, so how women can have a better working environment for the women in the party?

Answer:

Adv. Abha Singh: As a young bright student, you have a right to go back to the Supreme Court and file a review or curative petition. The Supreme Court can debate, discuss, and review its previous order if it finds it relevant to change it once a previous decision.

Maruti Abitva

Question:

What are your views on incorporating views on menstrual leave on women in workplaces?

Answer:

Dr. Fauzia Khan: It is a part of state women's policy, which was bought by Shri. Sharad Pawar in 1994 in Maharashtra, which was later accepted as a national policy by the union government. As per this policy, women should be privileged in different sections. Gender budgeting is important in every field. If women want equality then we must not demand leave for small things like the menstrual cycle. Consider it as a normal phenomenon.

Astha Deshmukh
(Akola, Maharashtra)

Question:

How to tackle the women's deep fake photos, which have been generated by AI tools?

Answer:

Dr. Tessy Thomas: AI is a double-edged sword; we must reduce the involvement in social media. Those who are guilty can be punished heavily so the message in society will be loud and clear. Be alert and don't use it for the sake of creating chaos in society. Prompt reporting of the crime is crucial to avoid further occurrence of the crime.

Political turncoats bring disrepute to politics, says Naidu

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Pune: Former vice-president Venkaiah Naidu on Wednesday expressed disappointment over political turncoats and said politicians must stick to ideologies.

"If politicians keep changing their ideology and parties frequently, it will cause people to disrespect politics," the former vice-president said while speaking at the inaugural function of the 13th edition of the Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad organised by MIT School of Government and MIT World Peace University in Pune on Wednesday.

"Politics is not a profession, but a mission to serve the country. All politicians should have the passion to contribute for its betterment."

ABOUT MIT SCHOOL OF GOVERNMENT

“Not all politicians are corrupt. There are more clean politicians. The youth should enter mainstream politics to serve the nation.”

- Rahul V. Karad

- First of its kind institute in India & Asia for a career in Politics
- 19 years, 450+ alumni in public life
- Two-year Post Graduate degree program in Political Leadership & Government
- Teaching about various aspects of “Government” and “Governance”
- First-year on-campus learning and second-year off-campus training

The School of Government was initiated in 2005, a time when politics was not considered to be a good career option. We strongly believe that educated youth with professional training can make an impact at the societal level by joining politics. Today after engagement of youth in various movements and political issues of the country, we at MIT-SOG have been proven right.

Bringing youth representation into the mainstream of political and social democracy and imparting practical leadership training to prepare them for future leadership, was the commitment behind establishing this unique school in 2005, known as MAEER's MIT School of Government (now MIT-WPU School of Government, MIT-SOG). Apart from Electoral politics, it provides attractive roles in functional politics, as Political Analyst, Political Strategist, Campaign Manager, Election Consultant, Constituency Manager, Policy and Research Associate, PRO, Social media analyst, etc.

This being our 19th year of operation, we are glad to share that we have trained hundreds of youth and are proud to see many of our alumni, holding important positions in public life. We rededicate ourselves to the cause of building a strong political leadership, across levels and political parties. When we at MIT-SOG grow from strength to strength, we know that our political system too benefits, by getting an excellent pool of talent. We wish to strengthen our contribution to our country, in this unique and value-adding fashion each moment.

Vishwanath D. Karad and Rahul V. Karad, the moving force and initiators of MIT School of Government, the first school in India & Asia for a career in politics.

The brainchild of Prof. Dr. Vishwanath D. Karad, the Philosopher Saint Shree Dnyaneshwara World Peace Library & World Peace Prayer Hall is an epitome of architectural magnificence and is a contribution towards the knowledge divine. Conceptualized, designed, planned, and accomplished under the headship of Prof. Dr. Vishwanath.

D. Karad, the monument is sure to make a lasting impression on the world landscape and become a global marvel.

Presently, known to be the largest dome in the world, the remarkable monument has a diameter of 160 feet. With only 24 pillars as the foundation, the structure can accommodate more than 3000 people at any given time.

The dome houses a library that expands across an area of 62500 feet, with a prayer hall above it with 54 statues of revered scholars, saints, scientists, philosophers, and gurus.

The superlative monument envisioned by Prof. Dr. Vishwanath D. Karad conveys to the world the message of peace, divinity, and integrity and depicts the Vedic principle of 'Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam' (The world is one family).

ABOUT THE NATIONAL LEGISLATORS' CONFERENCE BHARAT

The National Legislators' Conference Bharat is an avenue for Members of Legislative Assemblies and Members of Legislative Councils across Bharat to gather in one place and exchange ideas. Honorable former Speakers of Lok Sabha and the incumbent Speakers of State Legislative Assemblies came together to institute this conference, the first chapter of which, took place in Mumbai from 15th to 17th June 2023.

In the 3-days conference, the MLAs and MLCs got a unique opportunity to interact with a diverse group of legislators from all States and Union Territories. The first chapter of this conference was conducted keeping cross-learning and enhancement of legislative effectiveness at its core. The legislators acquired experiential learning through thematic discussions along with a mix of thoughtfully curated large-format plenary sessions, parallel brainstorming breakout sessions, a showcase of their state pavilions and best practices, and various other sessions with acclaimed global and national leaders.

NLC Bharat stands as a genuine celebration and mirror of Bharat's dynamic democracy, representing a monumental stride in fortifying our national fabric. This conference marked a historic movement embodying the collective spirit of our elected leaders. NLC Bharat encapsulates the essence of a nation embracing its democratic ethos, reflecting a shared vision for a future where democratic principles thrive, and citizens actively participate in shaping the destiny of Bharat.
